

hol and used for manufacture of whisky, that grain alcohol which was to have been denatured was instead used to make whisky, and that money was paid to permit these practices, and to protect those carrying them out.

The charges against Foley and the four officials of breweries alleged that they had paid bribes to federal agents to permit them to load New York and New Jersey with beer of high alcoholic content. The agents in accepting the bribes, it was stated, agreed to permit the manufacture and sale of New Jersey beer, and on the other hand promised to use their best efforts to prevent the sale in New Jersey of beer made in Pennsylvania.

With the $4,500 received by federal agents today, the total of bribes seized by the government forces and confiscated was $84,500, according to United States Attorney Hayward, who estimated the total given in bribes since the conspiracy originated was about $700,000.

Mr. Hayward said having of the alleged conspiracy revealed a "shocking and sensational state of affairs in New Jersey and possibly Pennsylvania." State and other officials, politicians and persons high in social standing, he said, were in league with the bootleg conspirators.

Submit Work to Daugherty.

He declared he was powerless to act against these corrupt officials except insofar as they came within his jurisdiction, but he said he intended to submit all his findings to Attorney General Daugherty for direct action.

The investigation, it was stated, began in June when reports came to Washington that the prohibition law was being brazenly violated and that an attempt was being made to cover them up by wholesale bribery in which prominent persons were involved.

General Prohibition Agents Grill and Dunigan came to New Jersey and began an inquiry. Immediately they said they were approached by bootleggers who assured them "they could get rich quick" if they would be "reasonable."

In August, Special Agents Roche and Barham of the special intelligence unit of the treasury department joined Grill and Dunigan. All pretended they were corrupt and that they were working hand in glove with the conspirators.

While the agents collected the $30,000 in bribes, they saw that other bribe collectors were reaping a harvest of money on promises that they would establish connections in high places in Washington with people who would make beer running and getting absolutely "safe."

Trails Lead to High Places.

Most of this money, the agents found, went into the pockets of the collectors and go-betweens whose pretensions of influence in high places were false. Bribes accepted by the agents ranged from $400 to $6,000; some of the go-betweens received as much as $20,000 for a single "fixing job."

During their inquiry, the agents followed trails leading to the doors of persons high in the social and political life of New Jersey. It was decided to postpone action until government officials were able to capture a number of the alleged conspirators at once.

Today while some of the agents were in the Hotel Pennsylvania, other agents drove over to New York on trucks. It was felt that it would be better to capture and try the alleged law violators in the jurisdiction of New York rather than that of New Jersey.

All of the eleven arrested were arraigned before Federal Commissioner Boyle and held in $15,000 bail each for a hearing November 1. All were well dressed and appeared in their case as they heard the charges read. Bail was furnished for them by a bonding company.

Witness in Garrett Case Goes Gunning for Lawyer

Judge on Bench Tells Attorney for Prosecution To Beware of William Smith.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Cumberland, Court House, Va., October 18.—Practically all evidence had been presented and the court was about to take the subject of the trial of the jury at the end of the third day of the trial of R. O. Garrett, Cumberland county clerk, charged with the murder of Rev. E. S. Pierce. Instructions were expected to be ready tomorrow. The court continued in session tonight.

Progress felt slightly behind schedule tonight as a result of the long-drawn-out cross-examination of the accused who was on the stand about three hours. Judge D. White held court in session until the examination was completed at 7 o'clock and then recessed for supper until 8 o'clock.

The defense today presented to the jury through 18 witnesses the Garrett side of the events leading to and during the actual shooting last June of the Baptist minister at his home here. These witnesses included the accused, his brother, L. C. Garrett, who was jointly indicted with him for the shooting, Mrs. R. O. Garrett and A. M. Chandler.

Witness Dons Gun.

Little news was developed from the testimony. The new witnesses were put on to discredit the testimony of several state witnesses or refute statements that Mr. Pierce was in poor health and not particularly strong.

The sensation of the day came late in the afternoon in the form of a report to Judge White that Judge William Smith, commonwealth's attorney for Cumberland county, had suffered a "collapse," had armed himself and was "gunning" for Attorney Byrd of the prosecution. Judge White privately informed Mr. Byrd and other attorneys of the report.

Officers dispatched in search of Judge Smith reported he had been taken home by members of his family. Clerk Tillman was directed to issue to Mr. Byrd a permit to go armed.

Put Through Grilling.

Judge Smith, an eyewitness to the Pierce-Garrett shooting, was a witness for the prosecution in the trial of L. C. Garrett, but he was not called by the state at the former or present trial of R. O. Garrett, the prosecution alleging that his statements at various times were conflicting. He recently suffered a nervous breakdown, resulting from worry over the case, his friends say, and had returned only a few days ago from a Richmond hospital. Called as a witness for the court yesterday, he was put through a grueling cross-examination by Mr. Byrd.

On the stand both the Garretts admitted shooting at Mr. Pierce, but declared the preacher fired the first shot in the pistol battle and also had struck the first blow in the fist fight with Larkin Garrett, which preceded the shooting and Larkin said he fired before Robert died after he saw Pierce shoot his brother. Both explained their visit to the Pierce home as alleged to have made concerning the Chandler shooting. Chandler was shot from ambush on the night of May 3 and it was the assumption of the Garretts that he was mistaken for Larkin Garrett. The statement accredited to the clergyman, both brothers testified, caused them to believe he might have information concerning the shooting.

Mrs. Garrett was the first witness at the night session.

Falls school was to have taken place between 2 and 4 o'clock this afternoon. It was after 2 o'clock, however, when the nominating committee made its report and the ballot had then to be sent to the printer. As a result, the polls were ordered to be kept open from 4 until 9 o'clock tonight.

Meanwhile, the delegates were tendered a reception at the Woman's building, and later made a trip to Berry schools where the dinner was served.

At the session tonight the principal address was made by Mrs. Oran W. Manson, superintendent of the Georgia Training School for Boys. R. B. Troutman, state executive committee man of the American Legion, also spoke.

TO FORESTALL EFFORT TO MOVE PENN'S DUST

London, October 18.—During the recent agitation over the remains of General Oglethorpe, it was repeatedly suggested that the removal of the founder of Georgia would be immediately followed by an attempt to bring the bones of William Penn to America.

The threat was regarded by the Society of Friends as sufficiently serious to cause them to issue a statement to forestall any possible effort to disinter Penn's dust from the peaceful little Quaker burial ground at Jordans, where Penn, his wife and five of his children are buried.

The declaration recalls that the state of Pennsylvania in 1881 approached the trustees of Jordans, where Penn, his wife and five children are buried, with a view to bringing about the removal of Penn's remains. At that time the trustees replied that after consideration of the matter not only from the standpoint of the Society of Friends, but in a dispassionate and common-sense spirit, they have arrived at the conclusion that it is their duty to refuse.

The present statement adds that there is no reason whatever to believe the decision of 1881 should be departed from.

Filling Station Manager Held Up And Robbed of $70

While a steady stream of automobiles passed bearing theater crowds homeward, two unmasked white men held up and robbed A. G. Sowell, in charge of the Gulf Refining company filling station at Peachtree and Twelfth street, at 11:30 o'clock Thursday night.

The bandits secured $70 in currency from the cash drawer, leaving a quantity of silver. A description of the men was furnished to Police-men J. E. McDaniel and C. M. Hagan. A few months ago burglars carried a heavy iron safe out of the filling station which was the scene of the Thursday night robbery.

Sowell, who lives at 851 Lucile avenue, is the son of Federal Prohibition Agent A. C. Sowell. Mrs. Florence Shelton, of 243 North Jackson street, reported to the police Thursday night that someone had entered her home by forcing a window and secured a quantity of clothing and jewelry.

Home Is Offered Widow of Man Who Ended Life

Mrs. Robert Saylor, widow of the aged Atlantan who committed suicide in police station Wednesday night because of his destitute circumstances, will be given a home with Mrs. Frances Johnson, at 250 East Lake drive, according to announcement Thursday by Mrs. C. T. Osburn.

According to Mrs. Osburn, Mrs. Johnson has not only agreed to take Mrs. Saylor into her home and provide for her, but has furnished a lot in Hollywood cemetery for Saylor's grave.

Mrs. Osburn, who is vice president of the Protestant Women's Political League, will receive donations toward the funeral expenses of Saylor. Her address is 310 Connally building.

After two previous unsuccessful attempts to end his life, Saylor hanged himself early Wednesday night at police station where he and his wife were being cared for pending their removal to the almshouse. His dread of the poorhouse was believed to be the reason for his act.

against the resolution. The demonstration in favor of Mrs. Richardson following the loss of this motion was the high light in the session which saw the nominations made. The balloting which followed some three hours later was without incident until the charges of irregularity began to fly thick and fast.

Results Kept Secret.

The polls closed at 9 o'clock, but there was considerable delay in beginning a count of the ballots, and at 11:30, Mrs. Hays, president of the convention, announced that the results would not be given out until tomorrow morning. Besides Mrs. Brantley, who is running without opposition, the following state officers will be elected: Mrs. L. H. Brennan, of Augusta, as first vice president; Mrs. S. V. Sanford, of Athens, second vice president; Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, of Montezuma, recording secretary; Mrs. B. M. Boykin, of Atlanta, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Albert Hill, of Greenville, treasurer.

Report on Tallulah.

The morning session of the convention, which was featured by the report of the nominating committee, was largely taken up with a discussion of matters pertaining to the Tallulah Falls school and the reading of resolutions which had already been passed upon by the resolutions committee. For more than three hours, the club women were interested in reports of the splendid work the mountain school is doing.

Mrs. Jeff Davis, director of the school, told of the financial status of the institution, and recited some of the difficulties under which it is laboring; at present, difficulties which it is felt will be eliminated by the new charter provided for in a resolution adopted at this session.

Mrs. John K. Otley, one of the very first club women in Georgia to inaugurate the movement which later resulted in the establishment of the school, made a complete report covering the institution's activities during the past year. In the beginning, she made a plea for the elimination of all factionalism in the consideration of affairs of the school. During the year which is just closing, she showed, slightly more than $42,000 has been raised for the school as against approximately $30,000 raised during the preceding year. This, she set out, does not represent the difference in the work that has been done for that institution by any one factor, but by one set of officers, but simply illustrates how the school, and the work it is doing, has taken hold of the people of Georgia.

Keep Tab on Solons.

Of the resolutions favorably reported by the resolutions committee, none attracted so much attention, possibly as one introduced by Mrs. Belle Baylis, of Kingston, which provides that officers of the federation be instructed to look into the records of the last legislature and to make a record of how each member of that body voted on bills fostered by the federation, and of how many members were in attendance at each session where such measures were considered.

The information thus obtained is to be sent to the president of every club in Georgia, the resolution provides, so that club women may know who are and who are not their friends.

It was easy to see that the federation would have adopted the resolution, but it was eventually ruled that it should be referred to the legislative committee.

Mrs. Harry F. Sinclair, of Atlanta, head of the state organization of women voters, addressed the convention on the matter of legislation and the failure of measures fostered by the federation to pass the last legislature. This was largely due, she expressed the opinion, to the fact that the federation was attempting to press seven different measures when only one should be put forward at a time.

Urges Biennial Sessions.

Mrs. H. C. B. Morgan, of Savannah, gave notice to the convention that she will, at the next meeting of the federation, present for passage a measure which will provide for biennial instead of annual sessions of the body.

There is no work done by the federation at its annual convention that cannot get adequate attention once in two years, Mrs. Morgan said, and the expense of holding annual meetings has become so heavy that she strongly favors cutting the number of meetings in half.

TWO SORE SPOTS HURT U. S. TRADE

Washington, October 18.—American business conditions appear to be on a fairly stable basis, Secretary Hoover declared today, except for the existence of "two sore spots." One of these, he said, is due to the depressed price for grain in the west, while the second he described as resulting from the international unsettlement involved in the German-French struggle.

"Notwithstanding the area in which stability exists is much greater so far as the United States is concerned," the commerce secretary concluded, "than that which is affected by either German friends or the western grain raisers' plight."

LOUIS ROBERTS IS NOW FACING FORGERY CHARGE

Louis F. Roberts, former inmate of the federal penitentiary, who gained considerable notoriety recently when he was charged by Miss Fannie Baxter with having tricked her into a fake marriage ceremony, and who whiled away many hours in the Fulton tower before she consented to marry him, is being sought by officers from the municipal court to answer a charge of forgery.

The warrant was sworn out by J. B. Sullivan, taxicab driver, who alleges that Roberts, after riding about the city for several hours in his machine, presented him with a check which bore the signature of Joseph D. Lewis, an Atlanta attorney. Sullivan stated that Roberts exhibited a business card bearing that name before writing the check.

Erected by the Georgia W. C. T. U. and the state suffrage association, a white marble fountain now stands in the Mitchell street corridor of the state capitol, as a memorial to the life of Mrs. Mary Lettice McLendon, Georgia leader for temperance and woman's suffrage.

This fountain is of white marble. Above the basin is a tablet which carries a bas relief carving of the head of Mrs. McLendon. The inscription on the base is as follows: "Mrs. Mary Lettice McLendon, June 24, 1840--November 20, 1921. Pioneer leader in the temperance cause."

TO NAME DELEGATES AT A. M. E. CONFERENCE

Dublin, Ga., October 18.—(Special.) A. M. E. conference, in session here since Wednesday morning, is rushing its business with many interesting speeches and sermons.

A letter from Mayor Jones, of Dublin, was read, urging the white people to hear the afternoon program Sunday at the courthouse. It has not been decided if the conference will hold the session at the courthouse. It has been suggested that the Saturday night meeting under the auspices of the Atlanta Normal and Industrial Institute be held Sunday afternoon with Richard D. Stinson, head of the school, the mayor of the city and other white friends and colored men making addresses. It is known that Stinson will talk on migration and the negro's home really being in the south. Bishop Elipper has not conferred with the committee on public worship.

Characters of pastors were passed today. Two died during the year. Rev. J. E. Brown, of Hawkinsville, preached the annual sermon Wednesday night before more than 1,000 people who packed the church.

Pastors read reports of their various charges today which showed in many communities half of the membership has migrated to other parts of the country. The W. H. & F. M. society reported, through its president, secretary and treasurer, work to aid poor preachers and mission churches. Eighteen pastors' reports show they have received less than $200 for pastor and wife, with four and six children in family, for support during the year.

Election of nine delegates Friday is looked upon with great interest. Dr. B. H. Singleton, ex-Den J. A. Lindsay, L. A. Townsend, F. R. Sims and R. V. Branch are on the grounds and it is known that their friends are interested in them, and while they are saying nothing they are keeping in touch with what will take place.

President Elipper, E. D. C. Glass, J. H. McFarlin, E. Reece and Dr. J. H. Hammond, J. T. Hall, J. A. Hixson, head of the Atlanta conference delegation, are aiding the bishop by seeking transfers and backing him in plan to raise a statewide fund for education.

Rev. Eliphaz Lowery, of Cordale, Rev. W. O. P. Sherman, Savannah; Rev. R. L. Heard, Rev. W. B. L. Clark, First church, Augusta; J. D. Counts, H. H. Long, J. H. Jones, president; A. B. Cooper, Payne college; Evangelist Rev. Fines were presented to the body, J. A. Lindsay, southern recorder, Nashville, spoke on the value of negro literature. C. H. Harold, prominent negro and delegate to the general conference, living in Americus, Ga., was asked to give his views on negro migration.

Probe Is Ordered Of Commissions On Clarke Taxes

Athens, Ga., October 18.—(Special.) Method of computing commissions on taxes returned in Clarke county having been questioned by the certified auditor, the grand jury upon making its presentments to the court Thursday afternoon, referred the matter to the county commissioners for adjustment. J. H. Dorsey is tax receiver, and W. A. Mallory, tax collector. They have held office for a number of years. The main discrepancy, the audit points out, came in the collector's office through the system of computing the commission, in that the taxes commonly known as "general taxes" were collected on and then the taxes known as "corporation taxes" were taken separately and collected on, when the law specified that the two should be lumped together and then the commission computed on a sliding scale.

It is claimed this system has been allowed here over a period of many years and has never been questioned. The receiver was cited to have been occasioned by copying names from one digest to the other instead of carrying the names and amounts to a "defaulters" list. Only a small amount of money is involved as resulting from the method by which the returns were handled.

County commissioners were requested to give both officials a hearing and to bring the matter to a proper conclusion, it being the opinion that no criminal intent occasioned the differences pointed out in the audits.

County commissioners were requested to give both officials a hearing and to bring the matter to a proper conclusion, it being the opinion that no criminal intent occasioned the differences pointed out in the audits.

LITTLE RIVER BRIDGE ORDERED BY OFFICIALS

Quitman, Ga., October 18.—(Special.)—At the called meeting of the county commissioners a joint resolution was passed with the Cook county board ordering the building of a new modern concrete bridge over Little river, which is the boundary line between the two counties. The bridge will cost about $75,000 and Cook county will pay twenty-seven per cent and Brooks seventy-three per cent of the cost.

Probe Is Ordered Of Commissions On Clarke Taxes

Athens, Ga., October 18.—(Special.) Method of computing commissions on taxes returned in Clarke county having been questioned by the certified auditor, the grand jury upon making its presentments to the court Thursday afternoon, referred the matter to the county commissioners for adjustment. J. H. Dorsey is tax receiver, and W. A. Mallory, tax collector. They have held office for a number of years. The main discrepancy, the audit points out, came in the collector's office through the system of computing the commission, in that the taxes commonly known as "general taxes" were collected on and then the taxes known as "corporation taxes" were taken separately and collected on, when the law specified that the two should be lumped together and then the commission computed on a sliding scale.

It is claimed this system has been allowed here over a period of many years and has never been questioned. The receiver was cited to have been occasioned by copying names from one digest to the other instead of carrying the names and amounts to a "defaulters" list. ## ENTERTAIN KIWANIANS AT WASHINGTON FAIR

Sandersville, Ga., October 18.—Notwithstanding the inclement weather, Kiwanians from all over the state assembled here today to attend the seventh annual Washington county fair. A dozen porkers were barbecued for the Kiwanis dinner served at the fair grounds at noon. The dinner was prepared under the supervision of J. A. Bradley and Forrest A. English, known as middle Georgia's "cue experts."

On arrival of each Kiwanian at the fair grounds he was escorted to the Kiwanis booth for registration and presentation of a badge entitling him to the use of the grounds and admittance to the dinner. Prior to the dinner period a number of short speeches were made by local and visiting Kiwanians. In the afternoon the visitors were escorted through the various exhibit buildings, thence to the poultry pens and finally through the livestock building.

Dinner was served to four hundred Kiwanis members and their wives. It was estimated that two hundred visiting Kiwanians were in attendance. Governor Clifford Walker, who was scheduled to speak here today, wired the local committee of his inability to be present. It is understood that the governor was called to Indiana.

Commissioner J. J. Brown, who spoke to a large crowd of farmers at the fair grounds on Wednesday, paid a very high compliment to the officials of the fair association and to the farmers of Washington county for the exhibits now on display.

Judges announced this afternoon that they would begin work Friday morning. In community exhibits keen rivalry has developed between Deepstep and Riddellville. Each community has more than three hundred articles of display. Deepstep has on exhibition 30 varieties of hardwood, handsome floor lamps made of woven pine straw, 19 varieties of shingles and a number of novelty exhibits prepared by the people of this community for the Deepstep school.

In the Riddellville exhibit, which is strictly agriculture, are to be seen hundreds of items raised on the farm, even a sucking pig that was cured whole, giant pumpkins, melons, canned fruits, hams, shoulders, sides. The Riddellville exhibit will be shipped to Savannah Monday to compete at the Tri-State fair.

C. D. Rountree, president of the Georgia Press association, remained here Wednesday night to see the spectacular display of fireworks. This feature of the fair has attracted visitors within a radius of 50 miles.

G. S. Chapman, secretary of the fair, stated this afternoon that the officials expected another record-breaking crowd here Friday when the schools of the county will be closed to permit the children to attend the fair. All school buses in the county will be used to carry children to Sandersville.

Announcement was made tonight by judges from the State College of Agriculture, in attendance at the Washington county fair, that Dr. O. J. Rogers, exhibiting black Poland China hogs, received first prize in five classes. P. H. Wilson, of Barrow, three first premiums on spotted Poland Chinas with A. J. Swann winner of all premiums in New Hampshire stock. Deepstep won first prize for best agricultural display and Riddellville second. Final awards of all premiums to be announced Friday afternoon.

Transport Henderson, With Many Marines, Reaches Parris Island

Savannah, Ga., October 18.—(Special.)—The United States army transport Henderson, arrived at Parris island yesterday afternoon from Norfolk with more than 500 officers of the marine corps and their wives, all enroute to Santo Domingo, Haiti and Cuba for foreign duty during the next fifteen months. This is the second time the Henderson has come to Parris island. She made a similar call last May. Early Friday afternoon the Henderson will weigh anchor in Port Royal sound and turn her nose to Cuba with approximately 300 "devil dogs" of Parris island who recently recruited for the land and water service. They are under command of Captain William F. Brown during their foreign duty.

Baptists Will Meet.

Quitman, Ga., October 18.—(Special.)—The Ocklocknee association will hold its meeting at the Lebanon Baptist church in this county, starting Friday. The meeting will last through Sunday. Many of the most popular and talented ministers of the section will deliver sermons. Large crowds are expected. Dinner will be served on the grounds daily during the meeting.

PREPARE TO LAUNCH DRIVE FOR WESLEYAN

Macon, Ga., October 18.—(Special.) Immediate steps to launch the million dollar expansion and endowment fund campaign for a greater Wesleyan college will be taken as a result of a meeting of the board of trustees held here today. The campaign will be carried on under the direction of the trustees and will cover a period of several months.

A college architect of nationwide reputation will be asked to come to Macon and lay out a master plan of walks, drives and building on the new location recently purchased at Rivoli, seven miles from Macon on the Forsyth road. Subcommittees will be named within a short time.

At the meeting today James M. Rogers, of Savannah, a widely known Methodist layman, was elected to the board of trustees to succeed Dr. W. C. Wright, of Fort Valley, deceased. Mr. Rogers is chairman of the entertainment committee for the next general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church south.

GEN. BOWLEY ARRIVES IN SAVANNAH TODAY

Savannah, Ga., October 18.—(Special.)—General J. J. Bowley, acting commander of the fourth corps area, will arrive in Savannah Friday from Atlanta on an inspection trip to Fort Screven. He will relieve Major General David Shanks who has been granted leave of absence. He will be met by Brigadier General R. J. Travis and other national guard officers and will be honor guest at the Army and Navy club on the day of his arrival. He will go to Fort Screven Friday night to remain over Sunday.

Red Seal Concert and Operatic

	DOUBLE-FACED	Number	List Price
Tosca—E lucevan le stelle (The Star Was Shining) In Italian (Puccini)	Beniamino Gigli	942	$1.50
Tosca—O dolci mani (Oh, Gentle Hands) (Puccini)	Beniamino Gigli
Two numbers of intense and thrilling beauty. The first depicting a few moments of sad, sweet love-memory. Then in the second number, a few moments of false hope.
The Juggler (Monkowiak) Piano Solo	Sergei Rachmaninoff	943	1.50
Etude in F Minor (Debussy) Piano Solo	Sergei Rachmaninoff
In this remarkable piano record, hear Monkowiak's "Juggler" throw silver balls in the air, and finish off with a whirl. Then hear the subtle and tremendously difficult Etude of Erno Dohnanyi. Both played with splendid virile power.

Light Vocal Selections

{Honey, Dat's All	Olive Kline	45367	1.00
{Laddie o' Mine	Lucy Isabelle Marsh
Two songs for the heart of woman, however mute and however deeply hidden. "Honey, Dat's All" is wonderfully soft, smooth and tender. "Laddie o' Mine" is in waltz time. Both songs have orchestral introductions.
{My Sweetie Went Away	Billy Murray-Ed. Smalle	19144	.75
{I'm a Lonesome Cry Baby	Aileen Stanley
These three favorite Victor artists are appearing this week as blues artists. Murray and Smalle have a weepy number you already know as a fox trot. Miss Stanley is an excellent cry-baby in her home.

Recitations

Ten Little Mice and When Father	Edgar Guest	45368	1.00
Shakes the Stove
She Powders Her Nose and The	Edgar Guest
Good Little Boy
More of Edgar Guest's familiar little spoken rhymes of everyday life and everyday people. The poet "speaks his own pieces" which are in language and metre of the simplest order.

Dance Records

Roses of Picardy—Waltz	The Troubadours	19117	.75
{Marcheta—Waltz	Green-Arden Orchestra
"Roses of Picardy" was first made famous in song form by John McCormack. It yields a smooth beautiful dance. "Marcheta" has delicate whistling and shivery xylophone tremolos. Both ideal for the present fashion of waltzing.
Last Night on the Back Porch—Fox Trot	Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra	19139	.75
If I Can't Get the Sweetie I Want—Fox Trot	Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra
Paul Whiteman is back from his European triumphs. He has been crowned "King of the Jazz." In the first number he has a jolly fox trot with vocal refrain. In the second there are new effects. Brilliant, richly-colored, perfect records.
{Wolverine Blues—Fox Trot	Benson Orchestra of Chicago	19140	.75
House of David Blues—Fox Trot	The Virginians
Two numbers that are sure to please dancers who like unusual effects in their accompaniment.

Beauty--Strength--Permanence SHOPE CONCREET FACE BRICK

Beauty. All the tints in Nature's paint box are here—those soft and cheerful shades of buff and cream so hard to find in other brick; warm reds, too, and greys, an endless range, lending themselves to artistic effects.

Strength. Shope face brick are of solid concrete. Through their perfect bond of cement, the walls become a concrete monolith, increasing in strength with the march of years, equal to any strain it is asked to bear. Be it bungalow or skyscraper, if it is of concrete, it is built for all time.

Permanence. The tints of Shope face brick are pure mineral, the same which color the red old hills of Georgia and the lighter clays of distant states. These minerals have held their colors through centuries, and nothing is added to or taken from them. The tints are an integral part of Shope brick.

Supply. No matter what color you select, there always will be an ample supply in our yards, insuring you against costly and exasperating delays. That is just another instance of Campbell Service.

Economy. Shope brick are uniform in size, cut easily to any shape, and save the time of workmen. Cheaper than frame construction in the long run.

LACK OF FUNDS MAY DELAY GIRLS' HIGH

Jr., chairman of the finance and building committee of the board, resulted in a request by the mayor for a new report on the school money situation which, the mayor said, he hopes will disclose the actual conditions the school board and the city are facing.

Will Not Sign Resolution.
The resolution of council reappropriating $225,000 of school bond money, equally between the boys' and girls' high schools will not be signed, the mayor said, unless it is shown that enough money will be left to carry out the city's part of the Boys' High school contracts.

As soon as the new contract is prepared in legal form to meet the approval of both City Attorney Mayson and of Mayor Sims, a special session of the bond commission and city council will be called to take action on it.

Cannot Find Money.
"The plan is very good," Mayor Sims said, "but before we can put it in operation we have got to know where the first $125,514 is; frankly, I haven't been able to find it yet. It strikes me there has been some beating about the bush on the school financial situation and I am going to know exactly where we stand and what we have before I sign until more money can be provided by special appropriations of city council, school board and county commissioners in January."

When the additional funds are in hand, new contracts could be made for the second unit of the school. Other appropriations in June, when the city's main financial budget sheet is drawn, would open the way for contracting for the final unit, which it is intended to complete in time for opening schools in September if work can be started early enough this year.

Mayor Sims declared his interest in building the girls' high school is as great as that of any other man in Atlanta and that he intends to see the school built as soon as possible, even though it forces sacrifices in other departments of the city government.

Changes Are Proposed.
The school board was called into special session Thursday, following the mayor's announcement that he would veto the original contract on the ground that it is illegal. City Attorney James L. Mayson had ruled that the city could not enter into any contract looking to expenditure of money it did not have, actually in prospect at the time of making the contract.

The changes in the contract were proposed by Mr. McCullay and Mr. Brown, with the approval of the contractors concerned, Griffin company, general contractors; Loftis company, plumbing and heating; McGaughey company, electrical work.

Purchase of 10 steel portable buildings to relieve congestion in the extra street and Edmund A. Ware schools was finally approved. The buildings are to be delivered probably by November 1 and payment is to be made next year. They will cost about $30,000.

Clerks at $75 per month were elected for nine of the larger elementary schools.

Election of the clerks developed a spirited verbal battle over expenditures made for the schools, Mr. Eubanks declaring that it is senseless to continue to increase the school expenditure when a big deficit already certain and the teachers will have to be paid with borrowed money in November and December.

Agreement was reached to call a special meeting of the school board at which the school committee of council and other officials would be invited and at which the entire financial situation would be thrashed out.

More money will be needed to open the school next year, it was agreed by all members of the board. Increase in the schools' share of the local revenue or special school tax in the city probably will be asked, it was asserted.

Uniform State Laws URGED ON GOVERNORS
West Baden, Ind., October 18.—Uniform state legislation is the substitute at hand for continued centralization of federal government against which there is constant complaint, Nathan William MacChesney, of Chicago, president of the national conference of commissioners on uniform state laws, told the governors' conference today.

"There is constant complaint about the loading up of our federal government with activities that properly belong with the states and a continued centralization which spells bureaucracy," he said.

"Most thoughtful men recognize that the continued creation of huge administrative machinery at Washington to administer activities which can only be handled effectively by local governments is wrong in principle, but few are devoting themselves to a constructive effort to obviate the apparent necessity for centralization. The people demand efficiency and if the movement is to be checked an effective substitute must be found. Such a substitute is really at hand in enactment of uniform state laws."

Frau Fritz Kreisler

For Suffering Teutons
Berlin, October 18.—Frau Fritz Kreisler, the American wife of the great Austrian violinist, acting as the head of a committee of Austrian women, will formally open on Friday night a dining room in the kitchen of the former emperor's palace here, where meals will be served exclusively to people of the middle class.

A small fee will be charged so that pride will not prevent the sufferers from availing themselves of the service. A number of Berlin women have volunteered to conduct the dining room, which will be made more cheerful than the municipal kitchens, where the food served in a more attractive manner.

Berlin is having difficulty in finding funds for public relief, and the Prussian government has instituted a campaign through the Prussian state commissary for public feeding, to collect funds by subscription to aid in the work here. Posters reading "help the starving middle class, that they may get one hot meal daily" are being displayed throughout the city.

CRAWFORD BAGGS DIES AT WESLEY MEMORIAL

Crawford C. Baggs, of the automobile firm of Baggs-Langford Motor company, died at Wesley Memorial hospital at 9:30 o'clock last night after an illness of nearly a week. He was operated upon last Friday night for peritonitis and seemed to rally.

CRAWFORD C. BAGGS.

from the operation until Wednesday of this week. Since that time he had steadily grown weaker.

Mr. Baggs leaves a widow, Mrs. Kate May Baggs, the daughter of Judge C. C. Bush, of Colquitt; three children, Charles Crawford, Jr., a daughter, Billie Bush, William Calhoun; his mother, Mrs. Mary Baggs, of Winterville; sisters, Mrs. C. W. Pittard, of Winterville; Mrs. J. O. Hall, of Waycross, and Mrs. Roy Stripling, of Camilla, and his brothers, A. R. Baggs, of Pelham; Hill Baggs, of Moultrie; Hoke Baggs, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Elmore Baggs, of Goldsboro, N. C.; Jim Baggs, of Oglethorpe; Fred Baggs, of Tallahassee, Fla.; and Ernest Baggs, of Memphis.

Mr. Baggs or "C. C.," as he was familiarly known by hundreds of friends in Atlanta and throughout Georgia, was born in Camilla, Ga., September 29, 1886. During his residence in Camilla prior to coming to Atlanta, he was cashier of a bank and later treasurer of Mitchell county prior to engaging in the business of dealing in Ford automobiles.

He resigned his position as county treasurer of Mitchell county and came to Atlanta, where he became one of the first Ford dealers of Atlanta, doing business as the C. C. Baggs Auto company. He was a resident of Atlanta for only a short time before he was elected a member of the city council of Atlanta, which position he held for two terms. Mr. Baggs was a Shriner, Elk, K. of P. and a member of the Capital City club.

The salesmen of the Baggs-Langford Motor company will be the active pallbearers, while honorary pallbearers will be Governor Clifford Walker, ex-Governor Hugh M. Dorsey, Clark Howell, F. R. Bennett, Judge R. C. Bell, Judge Shepherd Bryan, Grover Middlebrooks, Chief W. B. Cady, C. H. Langford, W. W. Mitchell, E. G. Beaudry, A. L. Belle Isle, E. Street, D. E. Burrey, W. Fortson, Leon Sotherland, C. E. Freeman and E. F. Fuggle.

Funeral services will be held in the Park Street Methodist church at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Rev. Mr. Meeks officiating, assisted by Dr. Ashby M. Jones, of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church. Interment will be in West View cemetery. Harry G. Poole in charge.

Downtown, Pa., October 18.—George Kerr, a member of the firm of the Kerr Paper Mills company here, died early today from injuries received when he was gored by a bull two days ago. Kerr, a breeder of fancy Holstein cattle, was just opening a stall for the animal when it turned on him. Several of Kerr's ribs were broken and he died from internal hemorrhages as a result of a punctured lung.

Two Policemen Hurt. Arresting Desperate Negro

After a desperate struggle with two officers, which attracted a crowd of more than 1,000 spectators in the negro community of Pittsburgh, Will Shepard, colored, was taken to Grady hospital early Thursday night. Examination showed that his skull had been fractured in four places.

In the fight, which followed their effort to arrest Shepard, Plainclothesmen Oscar Tyson and S. M. Roper both received injuries. Officer Tyson received a broken finger, while his partner had one of his fingers almost severed when bitten by the negro.

The officers had gone to Pittsburgh to arrest Shepard on a DeKalb county warrant at the request of Sheriff McCurdy. Mistaking the plainclothes officers for whisky men, it is said, the negro, when approached, attempted to buy liquor from them.

Then informed that he was under arrest, according to the officers, Shepard replied that he would never be taken alive and struck at one of the officers. For several minutes the three engaged in furious fighting, during which the negro was struck several times with "billys" and revolvers.

At least 1,000 negroes soon gathered to watch the combat, but street spectators showed no spirit of hostility to the officers. After beating Shepard into submission he was handcuffed to a police car and taken to Grady hospital and placed under guard while under treatment.

The fighting occurred at Rockwell and Welch streets.

ARSON PLOT ENDS IN MURDER CASE

New York, October 18.—A sensational aftermath of a fire which early last Monday destroyed a Brooklyn home and caused the death of six persons, ended today with the arrest of William A. Ford, a real estate broker and son-in-law of one of the fire victims, and Raymond Anderson on a charge of murder and arson.

A third man, James R. Lynch, an accountant, was held as a witness and a fourth is being sought as an accomplice.

Ford is the son-in-law of George Keim, playwright, whose death in the fire came on the eve of the production of his first play.

Maxwell Brophy declared he had obtained a confession from Ford and his son-in-law was said to have existed for several years, according to Anderson. Brophy, who was stood, was to have appeared in court to testify against Ford in an assault case the day of his death.

Anderson, according to Brophy, accused Ford of the unidentified man, a stranger to him, of having driven to Keim's home early Monday morning after they had spent the Sunday evening with the two girls, and with having fired the house.

Keim, three women and two other men perished in the flames.

Ford and his father-in-law, formerly partners in a Manhattan theatrical enterprise, were said to have broken business relations after a quarrel several years ago.

Brophy said Anderson told him that Ford had on a previous occasion asked him to fire the Keim home and that he had several times requested him to attack the older man.

Anderson, according to Brophy, said he refused to take part in the arson plot beyond driving Ford's car. He said Ford accused him of being "yellow."

Ford was nervous and almost crazy when he saw the flames reflected in the windshield as I sat in the car in front of the Keim home," he is alleged to have said. "I began to drive away after Ford and the other man had been gone about ten minutes, but they rushed after me and jumped upon the running board. Ford upbraided me. He said I was a damn fool and that I could have picked up a nice piece of change."

Ford, Brophy said, denied Anderson's story.

BORAH PLANS DRIVE FOR TAX REDUCTION

New York, October 18.—Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, here for conferences in connection with prospective coal legislation, today issued a statement favoring a drive at the coming session of congress to reduce the nation's tax burden.

"I am very much in favor of tax reduction at this session of congress, he said. "We cannot act too speedily so long as we act with intelligence. If the fearful tax burden now being carried can be relieved as Senator Smoot, who is as well advised, as any one, declares to the extent of $500,000,000, let us do so as soon as possible."

"The view expressed by Senator Smoot is good news. But I think we ought not to be delayed. It is true probably that to attempt a change at this session will open up, as stated, a Pandora's box of troubles. But the Pandora's box of troubles already is open out in the country and congress can afford to take on some troubles in order to relieve the country."

"I hope the new chairman, Senator Smoot with his usual industry and ability will urge his program and urge it at this session. If we do not begin an active campaign for reductions we will likely drift into a program of increasing the taxes."

There will be plenty of plans to increase the burden. The best way to meet them is by an active program to reduce. Reduce and reduce now."

Senator Borah made it clear that his statement did not refer to the general tax reduction program being prepared by Secretary Mellon. He declined to discuss, at this time, any of the details of the proposed plans which the taxes might be shaved, he said, he favored heartily any plan which would relieve the man with a small income.

BAVARIA BREAKS
TIE WITH SAXONY

the rampant Saxon government, it is viewed as not improbable that the socialist party will instruct its members of the cabinet to retire from the government.

Such an eventuality in all probability would wreck Chancellor Stresemann's present ministry unless President Ebert in the emergency should give Stresemann carte blanche authority to wield his dictatorship without heed of party or partisan consideration.

Herrn Mueller and Otto Wels, who are the traditional enemies of the socialist party when important assignments are decided upon, today had a long conference with President Ebert. Representatives of the socialists and communists also have been conducting informal deliberations looking toward the creation of a "proletarian working alliance," although the ultra right have put forward such extreme demands that the conferences have been postponed for the time being.

The conferences, however, are significant as representing the first serious attempt to unite both the radical parties on a common platform, especially as the socialist party, as such, up to quite recent times, has openly and repeatedly asserted its refusal to make common cause with the communists.

Demand Conciliation.
Since the German bolsheviks joined in the formation of the Saxon ministry, the previously existing line of cleavage has become considerably blurred and there is an insistent demand for conciliation.

SIX DEAD
IN FOOD RIOTS.
Mannheim, Germany, October 18.—(By The Associated Press).—From six to eight persons are reported dead and many others wounded as the result of yesterday's food riots in Mannheim. The trouble was the outgrowth of the high prices of food, resulting in a general strike and the cutting off of the water, gas, electric and street car service.

MOB OF WOMEN
ATTACKS PLANT.
Gelsenkirchen, Ruhr Valley, October 18.—A mob of women attacked and badly damaged the administration building of the Mannesmann iron works here today. The assault was in protest against the non-payment of wages due the women's husbands. The officials of the works pleaded lack of currency.

The women also raided food shops, and visited nearby farms searching for food.

SOCIALISTS DEMAND
CURRENCY REFORM.
Berlin, October 18.—(By The Associated Press).—A resolution demanding immediate currency and financial reforms was passed at the first general meeting of the central committees of the social workers and officials' association.

Another resolution asked that private concerns directed against the common weal be ruthlessly suppressed. The delegates said they were ready to make arrangements regarding overtime in certain industries.

The workers also demanded seizure of the harvest as a measure for relieving the food shortage.

mand in the ranks of the Berlin socialists that the central government should issue a more conciliatory attitude toward Premier Zeigner and his red Saxon regime.

By way of laying stress on its defiance of the Berlin government, the Saxon government today announced the appointment of two radical communists, Herr Boettcher and Herr Hecker, as Saxony's delegates to the federal council. Herr Boettcher, who is minister of finance in the Zeigner cabinet, is a young communist who has just returned from Moscow where he is reported to have taken a course of instruction at the soviet's fountainhead. Herr Hecker is minister of economics and as such holds a portfolio of strategic importance. His party in view of Saxony's preeminence as an industrial state. Both these ministers have refused to take the oath of allegiance to the republic's constitution, and this is being made a cardinal feature of the present controversy with the Berlin government.

A section of the bourgeoisie press demands that both men be forced to swear fealty to the republic or retire from office.

The central government's failure to obtain even a small degree of accommodation from M. Poincare, the French premier, in connection with its program of a resumption of the Ruhr industries, also has gravely complicated matters for the Stresemann regime, and official quarters appear to be wholly without counsel or wisdom with respect to a solution of the problem of the Ruhr and the Rhineland.

MINISTER OF DEFENSE MAY TAKE ACTION.
Berlin, October 18.—The government of Saxony, having ignored the ultimatum of General Von Mueller, commander in chief of the Saxon state, expiring at 11 a. m. today, the general sent a second letter to Premier Zeigner, saying:

"There will be no thought of my answering your letter I beg to inform you that I have referred the affair to the minister of defense."

TO STRIKE AGAINST ARMED ACTION.
Berlin, October 18.—The congress of socialist trades unions yesterday passed a resolution advocating the proclamation of a general strike in the event of armed action "against the Saxon and Thuringian proletarian."

GERMANS APPLY FOR RAILROAD JOBS.
Duesseldorf, October 18.—Thirty-eight thousand German railroad men in the occupied area applied for places under the Franco-Belgian railway regime yesterday, it was announced today at the headquarters of the occupying forces here.

It is understood that only native Rhinelanders will be employed for the present.

PARIS INTERVIEW REPORTED FAILURE.
London, October 18.—The interview in Paris yesterday between the German charge d'affaires and Mr. Poincare failed, says a Central News dispatch from Berlin quoting an official statement because the French premier "refused to permit negotiations until the conditions existing before the Ruhr occupation are restored."

SIX DEAD
IN FOOD RIOTS.
Mannheim, Germany, October 18.—(By The Associated Press).—From six to eight persons are reported dead and many others wounded as the result of yesterday's food riots in Mannheim. The trouble was the outgrowth of the high prices of food, resulting in a general strike and the cutting off of the water, gas, electric and street car service.

MOB OF WOMEN
ATTACKS PLANT.
Gelsenkirchen, Ruhr Valley, October 18.—A mob of women attacked and badly damaged the administration building of the Mannesmann iron works here today. The assault was in protest against the non-payment of wages due the women's husbands. The officials of the works pleaded lack of currency.

The women also raided food shops, and visited nearby farms searching for food.

SOCIALISTS DEMAND
CURRENCY REFORM.
Berlin, October 18.—(By The Associated Press).—A resolution demanding immediate currency and financial reforms was passed at the first general meeting of the central committees of the social workers and officials' association.

Another resolution asked that private concerns directed against the common weal be ruthlessly suppressed. The delegates said they were ready to make arrangements regarding overtime in certain industries.

The workers also demanded seizure of the harvest as a measure for relieving the food shortage.

DISEASE PREVENTION MEETING IS CALLED

The state board of health at a meeting to be held in Savannah on October 25 will open statewide campaign for the eradication of preventable diseases, according to announcement by Dr. T. F. Abernethy, secretary of the board. All citizens are invited to attend this meeting and it is anticipated that bankers, railroad officials, business men and farmers from all sections of the state will be present.

At this meeting, the board also will consider plans for the new tuberculosis sanatorium which is to be erected at Alto. The new buildings are to be financed by a part of the proceeds of the cigar and cigarette stamp tax that goes into effect next January 1, and which was passed by the state legislature. A quarter of a million dollars of this money is appropriated under the bill, each year for the first two years, for the purpose of building this new sanatorium.

$40,000 GARAGE WILL BE ERECTED ON PEACHTREE ST.

A $40,000 garage will be erected by the Massell Hotel Co. on the corner of 624 Peachtree street for V. J. B. Rinehart and H. A. L. Strubling, to whom the structure has been leased for ten years, according to an announcement by the Massell company, Thursday. The lease was handled by the Ward Wright agency. The site measures 100 by 250 feet.

The Massell company further announced that it had sold to the King Hardware company, the site for a branch store, the southwest corner of Lakewood and Rhodesia avenues, which brought $4,000. The lot measures 25 by 100 feet, and is in the Lakewood Heights trading community.

Contractor Dies At Steering Wheel Of His Automobile

Seated at the steering wheel of his automobile, R. F. Meeks, of 247 Glenwood avenue, well known Atlanta contractor, died suddenly Thursday afternoon near Ball Ground, according to telegraphic information received by Police Chief James L. Beavers.

Meeks was reported to have left Atlanta Thursday morning en route to Jasper. Near Ball Ground he suffered an attack of heart trouble, dying a few minutes later.

Cantilever Shoe for Men

Each foot has its arch. Each foot has its own arch, with its own shape and its dimensions. The arches of the left and the right foot are sometimes of different heights.

The Cantilever Shoe meets the requirements of each individual foot arch. When the shoe is laced, the flexible arch curves up to fit the under curve of the individual foot, supporting the arch structure and giving a snug feeling of restfulness to the entire foot.

The Cantilever Shoe is an easy walking shoe. It is flexible, and lends with every foot movement, permitting the foot muscles to exercise as nature intended. Make Cantilevers your next pair of shoes and you will experience comfort and enjoyment.

DRINK WATER WHEN KIDNEYS HURT YOU

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and clogged. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—(adv.)

Police Searching For 'Higher Ups' In Still Capture

Other arrests may take place in connection with the seizure and confiscation Thursday morning of a large still in the Inman Park section, according to Captain T. O. Studivant, of the plainclothes department, and Vice Squad Chief E. S. Acosta, who are personally conducting a thorough probe of its operation.

At the time of the raid the officers arrested Tate Anderson and J. B. Williams, who claimed to be employees of a mysterious third person, whose name they refused to give.

Located at DeKalb and Waddell street in a two-story brick store building, the still and equipment were declared by officers to be one of the largest and most modern yet destroyed. Its capacity was 250 gallons.

More than 3,000 gallons of mash, ready to run, were poured out by the raiding party, who also seized a quantity of the manufactured product which they carried to the jail with the prisoners to be used as evidence.

The still was on the first floor, while a large boiler was located upstairs.

The whisky was a mixture of rye and corn, the greater part being corn, officers claim.

The capture was the result of diligence on the part of Patrolman H. A. Hardy, who detected the odor of liquor as he directed traffic at the crossing leading to the Inman Park school. After the hour for school children to be picked, he came to police headquarters where he reported his suspicion to Captain Studivant, who personally accompanied his vice squad to investigate.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ATTEND SPECIAL SERVICE SUNDAY

Coeur de Lion No. 8 and Atlanta No. 9, Commanderies Knights Templar, will attend divine service, Sunday morning, October 21st, at the First Christian church, corner of Trinity and Pryor streets.

Sir Knights of the two commanderies have been asked to be at their assembly, at the Masonic Temple, promptly at 10 a. m., in full dress uniform with side arms. They will march through Peachtree and Whitehall to the church with the Knights Templar band heading the march, followed by Coeur de Lion's drill corps.

Dr. L. O. Bricker, pastor of the First Christian church, will deliver the sermon to the Christian order on the "Knights Templar and the Christ."

The Knights Templar quartette will assist in the musical program.

PARKED MACHINES FILL 14.06 ACRES OF CITY STREETS

Out of the 35.33 acres of curb-to-curb area of the downtown congested district, only 21.37 acres remains for the movement of traffic, the other 14.06 acres being occupied by parked automobiles, according to a survey and map which has been prepared by the traffic engineers of the Georgia Railway and Power company. The survey was made at 11 o'clock on the morning of October 11. At this time there were 2,236 parked automobiles in the congested area.

NOV. 15 IS SET AS DATE FOR CHANGE IN GARBAGE RULES

New garbage collection regulations will go into effect in the business district November 15 and in the residence districts December 1, it was announced Thursday by John Jentzen, chief of the city sanitary department.

Hours of downtown garbage collection will be changed from morning to night and separation of wet from dry garbage will be required downtown beginning November 15.

Separation of wet from dry garbage in the residence districts will be required beginning December 1.

Notice will be served on all business houses and residents before the new ordinance goes into effect. Copies of the new law are being prepared for distribution through the business district in order to avoid misunderstanding of its provisions.

Chief Jentzen stated that no plan has been adopted yet for disposing of the dry garbage, the sale of which is expected to net the city around $100,000 per year. It will require several weeks of observation, he said, to determine how much salable waste paper, rags and bones will be gathered by the sanitary carts. The city has at present no warehouses or other facilities for storing this kind of material. Chief Jentzen stated that it would probably be sold on contract to Atlanta junk dealers after competitive bids had been asked. The council sanitary committee will take the matter under consideration at its next meeting.

Construction on New Sunday School Building Started on Thursday

Construction work on the new Sunday school building of the Druid Hills Presbyterian church, at 728 Ponce de Leon avenue, was begun Thursday by the contractors, Barge-Thompson company.

At the city hall a building permit for a $80,000 structure of pressed brick, to be trimmed with Indiana limestone, was issued. The building will be covered with slate.

At present the church is located at Highland and Blue Ridge avenues. The new Sunday school building is to be the first unit of one of the finest edifices in the city.

FAMOUS GOOSE LAKE HAS ALMOST GONE DRY

Stevenson, Wash., October 18.—Goose Lake, noted for an abundance of large trout and beautiful scenery surrounding it in the Columbia national forest reserve, Skamania county, almost became a dry lava bed last week by disappearance of the water through cracks and holes in the bottom that have opened lately.

When the lake became a pond and thousands of fish were about to perish an investigation showed the water rushing through holes in the bottom. Game wardens and forest rangers packed sacks of dirt and stripped the banks. There are four mountain streams flowing into the lake and the rain the last few days has greatly increased the water supply. It is thought recent disturbances in the earth opened up the holes in the lava rocks.

It is at Goose Lake that the marks of an Indian's moccasined feet and hands are embedded in solid lava rock.

$37,500 VERDICT IS AWARDED BY JURY FOR LOSS OF LEG

For the loss of a leg which resulted from a street car accident near Emory university in January, 1922, B. F. Sims, of DeKalb county, Thursday was awarded a verdict of $37,500 damages against the Georgia Railway and Power company.

Sims had sued for $75,000. The trial was begun on Tuesday and the case did not reach the jury until Thursday. Sims was represented by Attorneys Branch & Howard and Alston & Alston, who filed a motion for a new trial after the verdict was heard.

It is alleged that Sims was crushed between two trolley cars so badly that amputation of his leg was necessary. The case was one of the hardest fought damage trials in DeKalb superior court in years.

9,101,343 Lbs. Of State-Raised Tobacco Is Sold

Total amount of Georgia tobacco sold on the floors of Georgia tobacco warehouses during the 1923 season, was 9,101,343 pounds, according to a report given out Thursday by Peter V. Rice, statistician for the Georgia department of agriculture.

The average price paid for this tobacco, is given as 25 70-100c. Other tobacco in addition to this was raised in Georgia and the department is now gathering statistics on tobacco sold otherwise than through the warehouses, thus hoping to arrive at an approximately correct report on the total of the crop for the year.

There are eleven tobacco warehouses in Georgia at which tobacco is publicly sold, these being located at Blackshear, 2, Vidalia, Douglas 2, Nashville, 2, Tifton, Habers, Hazlehurst, and Hoboken.

The lowest price received, for the season average was Habers, where it sold for 22 52-100c, while the highest was at Hoboken, with 32 97-100c per pound. Blackshear shows the largest amount sold, the two warehouses at this point handling between them, 3,309,467 pounds at first-hand sales. Hoboken had the smallest total sales, with 70,170 pounds.

The state laws on tobacco statistics require each tobacco warehouse, operating during the sales season, to report its sales of Georgia tobacco each week to the department of agriculture. The figures given above are from a summary of the entire season's record compiled by Mr. Rice.

Ad Valorem Tax Just to Everyone Urged by Bankers

Resolutions favoring an ad valorem tax which will be "just to all people of the state," and calling upon bankers, merchants and business men of the state to insist upon free use of calcium arsenate as an insecticide to control the boll weevil, featured a meeting of north Georgia bankers at Marietta, Thursday.

Ninety bankers, representing practically every banking institution in the northwest section of the state, comprising group 3, of the Georgia Bankers' association, attended the meeting. The question of tax legislation and the control of the boll weevil were taken up and discussed as the two vital questions of the present.

Eugene H. Black, president of the Atlanta Trust company, discussed the boll weevil situation thoroughly, expressing the belief that bankers, merchants and other business men of the state could greatly aid the "come back" campaign being waged through the state. Credits must be extended, said Mr. Black, but creditors should insist that farmers take steps to combat the boll weevil, by intelligent use of calcium arsenate.

Dr. R. J. H. DeLoach, of Chicago, director of research work for Armour Fertilizer company, who was invited to address the meeting, touched briefly upon the taxation question and urged the necessity of effective methods for combating the weevil. Dr. DeLoach expressed the belief that the question of boll weevil control was the greatest question of the south today, and that taxation in Georgia was second only to the boll weevil question in importance.

J. S. Peters, president of the Georgia Bankers' association, and a member of Governor Walker's special tax commission, attended the meeting and addressed the bankers on taxation problems. A resolution expressing the thanks of Georgia bankers for his "invaluable services as a member of the tax commission" was unanimously adopted.

A number of short addresses by other bankers present dealt with matters of particular relation to the banking interests of the state.

It was the annual meeting of group 3. Four other groups in the state having annual meetings also.

TRIAL OF DR. RIDLEY TO BE HELD SATURDAY

The trial of Dr. Caleb A. Ridley, imperial kludg of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, on charges of operating an automobile while drunk and possession of whisky, Thursday morning was postponed until Saturday upon the statement of Attorney W. S. Coburn to Recorder George E. Johnson that Dr. Ridley was too ill to attend court.

Dr. Ridley was arrested by Motorcycle Officer L. E. Shumate Wednesday afternoon in Peachtree street. The officer, it is claimed, found two bottles of whisky in Dr. Ridley's machine. Dr. Ridley denies that he was drunk. He claims that he had taken one drink and that all that he had was a half pint bottle, which contained not more than a drink of liquor.

Lloyd George Exalts Lincoln In Speech at Springfield

Civil War President One of Greatest Men in History, Declares Ex-Premier of Britain.

Springfield, Ill., October 18.—Mr. Lloyd George was officially welcomed to the state tonight by Governor Small at a public dinner in the Leland hotel. Speaking of the distinguished visitor, the governor said that "this has been a courageous life of service to his country and to his fellow men, as was that of our martyred president."

In his address, Mr. Lloyd George said: "I have come here today with one purpose and one purpose only—to pay my humble and reverent tribute of respect to the memory of one of the great men of the world. It is difficult to express the feelings with which I visited the home and the last resting place of one of the noblest figures in the history of mankind. There have been great men whose lives constitute part of the history of the world; there are a few whose lives have become part of the legends of humanity. These are the greatest and Lincoln's name will ever remain conspicuous among these. His fame is wider today than it was at the date of his death and it is still widening. His influence is deeper and it is still deepening."

"Even if this were the occasion, I do not feel competent to pronounce any judgment on the qualities of that which made him great and on the deeds and words that will make his name endure for evermore. Least of all would I presume to do so in the city where there are still living men who knew him. All I know about him is that he was one of these rare men whom you do not associate with any particular creed, or party or even country; he belongs to the human race in every clime, land and age.

"There are the great men of a party or of a creed. There are great men of their time for their own native land, but Lincoln was a great man of all time for all parties and for all lands. He was the choice and the champion of a party, but his lofty soul could see over and beyond party wall to the unlimited terrain beyond.

Career and Success.
"I have read many of his biographies. His career was highly successful judged by any standard—from the wretched log cabin of Kentucky through that comfortable home I visited, on the official residence of the president of the greatest republic on earth, seems a triumphal march enough for any career. And yet his life is in many ways one of the tragic and human stories and even the end comes as a relief.

"He once said: 'I have not willingly planted a thorn in any man's bosom' and yet, as soon as he reached the height of ambition, this man, who shunned hurt and scattered kindness on his path, was doomed by a cruel destiny to send millions of his own fellow-countrymen through the torturing experiences of a prolonged and fierce war against their own kith and kin. This, the tenderest soul who ever ruled a land, was driven for years by an inexorable fate, through the gentle hearts of mothers with anguish that death alone can assuage. And in this, the greatest and most poignant task of his life, he was worsted, harassed, encumbered, lassoed at every turn by the vanities, the jealousies, the factiousness of the men of war and of little men, who were misrepresenting, misunderstood, maligned, derided, thwarted in every good impulse, thought or deed. Yet his photographs became sadder and sadder and more and more tragic year by year up to the tragic end.

Gay Heritage to World.
"His example and his wise sayings are the inheritance of mankind, and will be quoted and used to save it from its follies to the end of the ages. The lesson of his statesmanship as applicable today as they were sixty years ago. They will be as applicable a thousand years hence as they are today. Being dead, he still speaketh. He has messages of moment for this present hour.

"The first is: 'To trust the common people' that trust is weakening in the continent of Europe, and country after country is abandoning its faith in democracy. It is the time to proclaim Lincoln's indomitable confidence in the ultimate justice and good sense of the common people.

"What is his next message? 'Clemency in the hour of triumph,' the doctrine of the pagan world was to be conquered. Lincoln's doctrine was: 'Reconcile the vanquished.' It is a time for remembering that vengeance is the justice of the savage, and that conciliation is the triumph of civilization. Lincoln's doctrine is the finest product in the realm of statesmanship of the Christian civilization, and the wise counsel he gave to his own people in the day of their triumph he also gives today to the people of Europe in the hour of their victory over the forces that menace their liberties."

Leaving here during the night, Mr. Lloyd George will be the guest of St. Louis tomorrow, arriving in the forenoon.

GEN. WOOD SUPPORTED BY ADMINISTRATION

Washington, October 18.—The support of the Washington administration was repledged to Governor General Leonard Wood's regime in the Philippine Islands in a cablegram sent him a week ago by Secretary Weeks and made public today.

"After personal conferences with the president," said the war secretary's message, "and recognizing the necessity of bringing about cooperation between the branches of the Philippine government executive, legislative and judicial, and maintaining the clear line of demarcation between them which is essential to well-balanced government, it seems well to make the following authoritative statement of the views of the administration here:

Entitled to Support.
"The personal sacrifice involved in your acceptance of your present office is proof of your desire to serve the Filipino people as you have served the United States. You are entitled to the support of the administration, and you have it.

"The controversy with the legislative leaders and certain executive officers is at bottom a legal one. The congress, after full consideration, vested the control and supervision over the departments and bureaus in the governor general, which makes these officials directly responsible to him, and not to the legislature, as in a parliamentary form of government. The powers of the governor general have not been exceeded or misused by you in any instance of which the war department is advised. If the legislature has enacted legislation violative of the provisions of the organic law, such legislation is to that extent null and void, and so far as it provides encroachment of the authority of the governor general, it is in no way binding on that official.

Your Duty Fulfilled.
"The legislature in a number of instances delegated legislative power in violation of the principles of constitutional government. Silence of congress on such legislation does not effect a modification or amendment of the organic law.

"The veto power granted to the governor general is applicable to all legislation, whether it be local or otherwise.

"The legislature has provided for the establishment of a bank and for certain investments of a business or semi-business character. This was within the authority of the legislature. In agreement with this administration you believed these investments unwise and have advised the legislature accordingly. This was your duty.

"Certain officials connected with the bank were corrupt. Your duty in the premises has been fulfilled. The legislature must now determine whether these government enterprises are to be carried on, or not. So long as the legislature indicates, through adequate legislative enactment and provision of necessary means, its desire and purpose to carry them on, you should endeavor to have it done efficiently.

President Urged To Ask Governors To Give Up Drink

Buffalo, N. Y., October 18.—(Special.)—Congressman William D. Upshaw, of Georgia, speaking here before the New York state convention of the W. C. T. U., stated that President Coolidge should demand a personal pledge of total abstinence from the use of liquor from every state governor who attends the conference on law enforcement problems at Washington this week.

The Georgian congressman also declared that the president should demand the resignation of certain members of his cabinet unless they refrain from drinking the devilish stuff.

After opening his speech with a tribute to the manner in which American womanhood has accepted its responsibilities for good government, since winning the suffrage fight, Congressman Upshaw launched into a vigorous attack on those politicians and various interests, who, he declared, are seeking to return America to the ranks of the "wet" nations.

He charged that the "organized liquor interests" are raising a huge campaign fund, "with which to dynamite the constitution and defy the flag which protects their homes and ours."

The Georgian declared that the supreme issue in the next presidential campaign will be "the mastery of duty constituted law and personal and national sobriety." This issue, he said, will transcend the tariff and all other issues of related economics.

"Take this from me," said the speaker, "Norman E. Mack, one of New York's brilliant editors, may have the reputation of being a keen politician, but in all good humor, I tell you that he was as blind as a bat when he recently declared that a 'wet' plank in the democratic platform would help Governor Al Smith win the nomination and also help the chances of the democratic party. I have spoken widely over the nation in recent months and I tell you there's not the ghost of a chance for any 'wet' candidate to be nominated or elected by either party. The democrats will not present a candidate on a platform that is 'moist' in practice or principle and may the Lord have mercy on you republicans if you do less."

Mr. Upshaw also drew a startling picture of the difference between America and Europe on the drinking situation, as he saw it on a recent trip to Europe. He said he would ten thousand times rather live in America, even with its bootleg liquor and occasional law-breaking drunken man, than live in Europe with the unbridled sale of liquors which obtains there.

CLEVELAND RETRACTS BID FOR CONVENTION

New York, October 18.—Cleveland has withdrawn as a contender for the next democratic national convention, according to John R. Young, secretary of the committee which is seeking to bring the gathering to New York. Chicago withdrew several weeks ago, Mr. Young said, declaring the two withdrawals appeared to leave this city alone in the field as a contender. Chicago, he said, abandoned all hope when it announced that New York intended to raise a fund of at least $250,000 to entertain the convention next summer.

Word received today from Cleveland, Mr. Young added, was that while that city was confident it could raise a fund to pay the expenses of the convention, it had decided to relinquish its claim because it had been learned that a majority of members of the national democratic committee had openly spoken in favor of New York.

He Tried This Floor in His Private Office

"I JUST put linoleum in my private office because my shabby wooden floors irritated me. They were scarred, and when their seams opened up, dirt collected. Besides, I did not think that a discolored, splintery, ugly floor fairly represented my business."

He liked it

"Later I put linoleum on my floors all over the place, primarily because I figured it was a clean, good-looking floor, and that it would make an agreeable impression on my customers. It was only when month after month, year after year rolled by, that I found what a long-wearing floor it was and that its tough body resisted the daily pounding of hurrying feet. This seemed about enough to ask of any business floor, yet my linoleum continued to pile up new floor virtues."

"Before very long I found it was cutting down floor expense. Where I had paid real money to refinish my old wood floors, I found that my linoleum needed only an occasional thorough waxing, and then daily brushing with a slightly waxed dust-mop to keep it in first-class condition. My linoleum, moreover, actually got better-looking the longer it was used. Its color mellowed, and many people have commented on its fine appearance."

"One of the best things about linoleum is that it reduces all sorts of miscellaneous din. My employees do not have to fight noise and at the same time try to attend to business."

"I consider that linoleum made a gift of dignity, cleanliness, and economy to my office, which does not happen to be a large one. If it were twenty times larger, there would be, in my opinion, exactly twenty times more need for it."

Stribling Knocks Out Foe, Then Goes to Hospital

Milwaukee Pugilist Goes Down for Count in Fifth; Stribling's Back Is Hurt

Dick Leonard and Chief Otalvio Stage Corking Good Fight in Semi-Windup, Leonard Winning Decision.

BY HENRY ALLEN.
Special Staff Correspondent.
Macon, Ga., October 18.—(Special.)—Young Stribling, in his first local appearance in nearly four months knocked out Steve Chovnsky, Milwaukee middleweight, in the fifth round of a scheduled ten-round go-fight at the new city auditorium before approximately 2,500 persons.

The knockout came after Chovnsky had been floored three times in the fifth round. Stribling landed a terrific right to the kidney and the Milwaukee fighter crumpled to the floor. At the count of nine he rose to his feet and Stribling landed another right to the same spot and the Polish pugilist sank to the canvas for a second time. Again he waited for the count of nine and rose to meet a fusillade of hard rights and lefts to the head. He attempted to cover, but sank down to his knees under the blows that Stribling rained upon his head. Once more the Wisconsin fighter rose groggily to his feet and met a hard right cross to the jaw that sent him down in a neutral corner for the count.

Chovnsky was painfully slow. Only once did he show any real aggressiveness and that was during the second round. In this round he landed two short left jabs that rocked Stribling slightly and cut loose with several wild right swings that, had they landed, a different story might have been told.

Stribling was suffering from a wrenched back that he received while in training for his bout with Tommy Burns in Detroit. It was evident throughout the battle tonight that the injury was giving Stribling a lot of trouble.

Taken to Hospital.
Directly after the fight he was taken to a hospital for examination, but it was decided to take him back to the hospital again tomorrow. The injury slowed the Macon boy up considerably and he did not show his usual brilliant foot work and flashy style.

In the second round Stribling rushed Chovnsky to the ropes and the Wisconsin fighter fell through. Spectators at the ringside broke his fall. Semi-final and preliminaries were bristling with action and thrills and were the best that have been staged in Macon in many moons. The real thriller of the evening was between Dick Leonard, of Savannah, and Chief Otalvio, of Fort Benning. The men are lightweights.

Otalvio, who is said to be an Indian, is an apostle of give and take, and he gave Leonard the fight of his life, although the Savannah boy was awarded the decision.

The Indian is a natural fighter and glutton for punishment. Leonard worried him with a long left that he kept poking in Otalvio's nose until his nasal appendages sent a stream of claret down his chin. The fight was mighty close, but if anyone won it, Leonard did.

Jack "Kid" Wofford, of Macon, fought a spectacular draw with Jordan Sheppard, that was a popular decision. Both men fought like their lives depended on it from the beginning of the first round until the end of the fight.

Jack had a peculiar style, resembling a windmill, in the fashion of Harry Greb. Sleep was best at the long distance firing, and the fight was a good draw.

Many Fights Cancelled.
Macon, Ga., October 18.—(Special.)—P. Stribling, father-manager of Young Stribling, announced at midnight that all fights scheduled for Young Stribling for this month have been called off, account of the young fighter's injury. Young Stribling was scheduled to fight in Raleigh, Knoxville and Miami this month. Efforts will be made to stage these fights later.

CAROLINA IN VICTORY, 14-0

Raleigh, N. C., October 18.—Before a crowd of 12,500 persons the Tar Heels of Carolina tamed the Wolf Pack of State college here this afternoon by a score of 14 to 0. State college was unable to withstand the attack of Carolina who outplayed the Wolf Pack in every phase of the game. A brilliant rally by State in the last quarter failed to net them any score.

The first quarter ended with the score nothing and nothing. Carolina made six first downs, while State made one. Both teams attempted to score during the initial period with dropbacks, but these failed. Carolina made repeated gains through State's line. McDonald made one run through State's line for thirty-five yards. The quarter ended with the ball in Carolina's possession on her twenty-yard line.

Second quarter: Carolina was penalized five yards for offense, giving them the ball on State's 30-yard line. Two forward passes failed. A third pass, McDonald to Underwood, gained fifteen yards, making first down. An- drew Underwood to Morris, but Morris was dropped for a touchdown. McDonald dropped back for the extra point. The remainder of the second period was a punting duel. State punted the ball in the middle. Score: Carolina 7; State 0.

Third quarter: State opened the second half by punting to Carolina's one-yard line. Devin punted 37 yards and then intercepted a State pass. Carolina punted after making first down and State booted the oval back to Carolina. Ronner made 18 yards and Carolina was penalized fifteen for holding. Carolina punted. The quarter ended with State in possession of the ball on State's 40-yard line. Score: Carolina 7; State 0.

Fourth quarter: State's offensive improved in the final quarter. State lost heavily on penalties. A series of line plunges and passes gave Carolina another touchdown. State began a brilliant rally, resorting to the passing game as the quarter closed but failed to score after taking the ball to Carolina's 15-yard line. Final score: Carolina 14; State 0.

Papyrus Shows Great Form And Odds Against Descend

My Own Shipped to Belmont Track as Precautionary Measure—English Horse in Shape.

New York, October 18.—(By The Associated Press.)—An exceptionally brilliant workout by Papyrus, with Steve Donoghue up, in the English derby winner's final speed test, and orders for the shipment here of Rear Admiral T. Grayson, My Own, ready to substitute for Zev in an emergency were developments that held the center of interest tonight in the $100,000 international turf classic to be run next Saturday at Belmont park.

The jockey club's international race committee late today decided to have My Own here as a precautionary measure, it was announced by Major August Belmont, committee chairman who denied that any eleven-hour shift in the horse which will carry America's colors, was contemplated. Coming on top of criticism of Zev's showing in workouts for the match race, however, the jockey club's step had been interpreted in some quarters as indicating the possible withdrawal of the Rancocas stable colt.

Major Belmont explained that the committee simply desired to leave nothing to chance, pointing out that My Own was designated as first alternate by the committee and that Untidy, the second alternate, already had been eliminated as a possible substitute by breaking down.

Meanwhile, Papyrus' chances of victory in the cup race were considerably enhanced in turf circles by the colt's final trial this morning, in which Donoghue guided the derby winner a mile and a furlong in 1:51 2/5. One of the immediate worries was the sharp decline of betting odds to even money, whereas about a week ago they stood at 3 to 1 on the American entry.

Papyrus' Speed.
The high early speed shown by Papyrus, which covered the first five furlongs in one minute flat and the mile in 1:38 3/5, has tended to dissipate among experts the belief that Zev could be depended upon to out-run the invader through the early part of the match race. Those who have hitherto regarded the result of the race as dependent purely upon whether Papyrus could close the gap in the last quarter are now looking for a neck-and-neck struggle from the start.

There was some opinion that the first six furlongs might furnish the real test of the race, with victory going to the horse which is able to "stand the gauntlet" of the early pace. "He's all right," was the laconic comment of Donoghue after the workout, which Papyrus finished breathing easily. Basil Jarvis, trainer of the horse, also seemed entirely satisfied with the final test of his charge and indicated that he planned nothing but light exercise until the day of the race.

Comparison of Papyrus' performance today with Zev's final trial yesterday showed a slight margin most of the way in favor of the English horse, which completed the mile a full second faster than his rival.

A slow, steady rain, which began falling this afternoon, cast a threat of rain for the turf classic. This may have the effect of reestablishing Zev in public favor to some extent, since he has a wide reputation as a mud-horse. Papyrus, however, it was pointed out, won one of his hardest races of the year, the Duke of York stakes, at a mile and a quarter over track ankle deep in mud.

ATHLETIC PROGRAM AT MERCER BROADENS

Macon, Ga., October 18.—The new physical development program of Mercer university in which every student will participate is attracting state-wide attention, according to information received by officials. Stanley L. Robinson, head coach, has completed a schedule under which physical education will become a regular course at the institution. College credit will be given for the work and two years of training will be required before a degree is granted. Interclass games and other athletic events have been planned.

SHIP MY OWN TO BELMONT

Washington, October 18.—Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own will be shipped tomorrow morning to the Belmont park track where Zev and Papyrus are scheduled to race Saturday, according to word received here from Laurel, where the colt is now quartered.

My Own has been selected to race Papyrus in the event Zev is considered unfit to compete in the proper way and it was not made clear whether there was any likelihood of My Own facing the barrier instead of Zev.

Zev Will Race.
New York, October 18.—August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey club, declared this afternoon that the shipment of My Own to Belmont Park did not mean that Zev would be withdrawn from the international match race Saturday.

LYNCH FIGHT CALLED OFF

New York, October 18.—Joey Lynch, he ups and trips over a dog Thursday afternoon and so he won't defend the bantamweight championship against Joe Burman, of Chicago, at the Garden Friday night.

"Hello, Mr. Rickard," said Lynch on the telephone late in the day, "I trip over a dog and he hit me shoulder. I can't fight."

"Whoever said you could fight?" Mr. Rickard asked with a trace of asperity. "Whose dog did you trip over?"

"My own dog," Joey said. "Right dog or left dog," Rickard insisted.

"I dunno: I'll have to ask me manager," and that closed the conference. Lynch claimed that an X-ray showed he had hurt his shoulder too severely to permit his boxing.

ALBANY TEAM IS DEFEATED

Bainbridge, Ga., October 18.—(Special.)—Before a crowd of 2,000 Dougherty and Decatur county citizens this afternoon on the municipal track, the Bainbridge High school football team triumphed over Albany High, 10 to 0. Had it not been for Holder, Bainbridge's marvelous little half, Griffin, the other half, with a toe that twinkled, and the headheadedness of Butler, the little Decatur county quarter, it would have been of the race.

Weathering several terrific attacks, Holder stuck, gaining the ground for Bainbridge, although he suffered from injuries throughout the game. In the third quarter Griffin's well-timed toe shot a field goal through for 3 points, and then with two minutes left to play and Albany fighting like tigers, little Butler, the Bainbridge quarter, against the advice of his teammates, called signals for a forward pass, on which Dollar, captain of the crew, scored a touchdown.

Griffin made the goal. The first half was colorless, except several good end runs by both teams. Albany was working to some disadvantage, though, on account of the soft field here, whereas the team has been doing its work on turf.

SARAZEN WILL INVADE ENGLAND NEXT SPRING

Pittsburg, Pa., October 18.—Gene Sarazen, professional golf champion of the United States, will go to Europe next spring to take part in the British open tournament, he informed his friends while visiting here early this week.

It is not likely to encounter the same hard luck two years in succession, so I'm going after the title again," said Sarazen in commenting on his failure to qualify in the British title play last year.

SMITHIES TO PLAY GORDON

The Tech High football team, regarded as one of the most powerful prep outfits in this section, will receive its first big test of the campaign at Spiller's field this afternoon when the Gordon Institute team will offer the competition for the Smithies. The battle is scheduled to get under way at 2:30 o'clock.

Another whirling good scrap should develop when Joe Bean's plucky little Marist eleven ties up with Boys' High on the Marist campus, at Ivy and Peachtree streets. These teams have come along in the proper way and should be in condition to put up nifty opposition. This score is likely to be very close, with Boys' High holding a slight edge.

The experts say Tech High should defeat Gordon, but they are not looking for any runaway. Gordon this year hasn't the strongest combination in its history, having suffered defeat in two starts, but the team is always noted for its fighting qualities. The boys may have a trick or two concealed in their sleeves for this afternoon.

On the other hand, the Smithies' strength in every department of the game is freely admitted by those who have seen these lads in action. The attack is extremely formidable and no prep team has as yet been able to hold long back the deadly thrusts of the Tech High offensive. The defense has been well drilled and the entire team looks to be a big, husky, intelligent and well-coached machine.

KANSAS CITY COPS FOURTH

Kansas City, Mo., October 18.—Before 10,000 shivering fans, the Kansas City Blues defeated the Baltimore Orioles in the fourth game of the "little world series" here Thursday by a score of 5 to 2.

Ferdie Schupp, veteran of many major league "tilts, and who formerly wore a Giant uniform, went on the mound for the Blues, while Manager Jack Dunn, of the International league winners, used his ace Lefty Groves, for whom McGraw now is reported angling.

For three innings the teams battled, neither being able to score. In their half of the fourth the Blues sent three men across the rubber. The American association champs scored again in the sixth and seventh innings.

The Birds in a sensational ninth-inning rally succeeded in escaping a shutout by scoring twice. Schupp twirled masterful ball, allowing but five hits. He was started in and won the first game of the little series. Groves also had won his first game and the only one which the Orioles succeeded in taking while here.

The teams now go to Baltimore where the games deciding the series will be played.

COLLINS MAY MANAGE SOX

Chicago, October 18.—Eddie Collins, captain and second baseman of the Chicago White Sox, probably will be selected to succeed "Kid" Gleason as manager of the club, it was reported in baseball circles tonight, although President Comiskey of the Sox would not confirm or deny the report.

Comiskey said no announcement of Gleason's successor probably would be made until after the annual meeting of the American league to be held here in December.

Jerry Albright Features Long Scrimmage at Flats; Rain Doesn't Affect Work

Thursday's Workout Huge Improvement Over Work of Previous Day and Whole-Team Looks Much Better.

BY JOHN STATON.

Grant field was the scene of much mud slinging yesterday, but in actual practice, the cause of all the disturbance was the Tech varsity scrub scrimmage. Coach Alex gave his men a chance to show better form. His men took the chance willingly and made a good afternoon of it.

Frye lined up at center, McConnell and McIntyre at guards; Huffines and Merkle, tackles; Gardner and Staton on the flanks. In the back field, Hunt started off at quarter, Williams and Reeves, halfbacks, and Wysoff, fullback. That crew remained on defense most of the while it stayed in the game. The scrubs used everything in the category, but were unable to gain ground. They did not earn a legitimate first down. It was a complete reversal of form over Wednesday afternoon's fiasco.

Soon Coach Alex relieved all his men and then the varsity took possession of the ball and ran with it a little. Tech crew remained on defense most of the while it stayed in the game. The scrubs used everything in the category, but were unable to gain ground. They did not earn a legitimate first down. It was a complete reversal of form over Wednesday afternoon's fiasco.

Finally Stopped.
He started out on an end run around the right side of his line. All the interference was used up in taking the opposing end out of the play. So Jerry hit the line of scrimmage back. Fortunately, the defensive backers-up had overran the play. Jerry sensed his opportunity in a flash and began cutting sharply back. He dodged all the drifting linemen and hit for the clear. He passed the defensive side back and eluded the safety man, but just as he was going by, the safety man made a desperate grapple for Jerry and hooked him by the hip pad. Holding on for dear life, he slowed Jerry up until help came from the rear, and the dashing little runner was finally put to the ground, after a gain of about 40 yards.

Contrary to the general belief that passes will not work with a wet ball, Tech was very successful in the forward passing department yesterday. In fact, a larger percentage of passes were completed than in any scrimmage or game so far. Tech is developing the air attack game to a nicety just now. For, undoubtedly before the close of the season, Tech will be forced to use forward passes as a means of attack.

Football has developed to such an extent that now a team can not lay just claim to honors without an adequate forward pass offense and an efficient defense against the passing game. Two of Tech's opponents, Notre Dame and Penn State, are admittedly right among the test exponents of the passing game in collegiate football today. How well can Tech verify that statement?

Short passes completed by Penn State in that memorable game in 1921 had much to do with the Tech disaster. Penn State would send a cloud of linemen down to snitch the man to whom the ball would be passed. Then the ball would be lobbed right over the charging Tech linemen into the waiting hands of a Penn State halfback. The pass relied upon the speed of the receiver for its yardage. It did not travel more than 10 yards in the air.

And last year a tragedy was written for Tech by the passwork of Castner, star Notre Dame halfback. Notre Dame could do nothing with straight football, but when it came to the air attack, she was all there.

GEORGIA GRID-SQUAD ON WAY TO TENNESSEE BATTLE

Oglethorpe Leaves Today for Game at Danville

Team in Great Condition For Battle With Centre; Will Take Many Reserves

Oglethorpe Coaches Feel That Petrels Have Fighting Chance to Upset Dope And Defeat Colonels.

By Bill Morrow.

Called a fighting chance of turning tables against their powerful and distinguished opponents, the Oglethorpe Petrels will board a train headed for Danville, Ky., this afternoon, where they will meet the Centre Colonels on the gridiron Saturday afternoon. The Petrels, after a layoff of the past weekend, are in good condition for the coming battle and are expecting to open their bag of tricks and show their worth on the foreign battlegrounds.

In meeting the Kentucky combination, the Petrels will be running up against an eleven that has mastered practically every method of attack. The Colonels hit the line, sweep around the ends and use the forward pass and several trick plays with ease. They have a good, steady offense and a defense that the Petrels are sure to have a hard time in penetrating.

Coaches Robertson and Brownie watched the Colonels against Clemson and returned to the Oglethorpe campus with the report that the Colonels had another crack team this year and especially a great back in "Flash" Covington. According to these sages on the art of football, Covington is good at anything, that he runs the ends and plunks through the line almost at will. Practically the entire Petrel squad is in good condition and prepared to give Centre quite a lively afternoon. Though one or two of the regulars are not in the very best of condition, Clay Parrish will be the only one unable to take his place in the Petrel ranks. This big boy has been suffering from a bad leg, injured in baseball, and the hard knocks received in the Tech affair have about lost him to the Petrel squad for the rest of the season.

Line Is Improved.

In the game of Saturday, Petrel scholars and friends will be able to find an answer to the problem of whether the Stormy Birds' line play has improved. In the two recent public exhibitions, the Petrel backs showed plenty of speed and drive, but the line failed to open the necessary holes and get its opponents out of the play, so consistent gains were few. During the past week the coaching staff has been busy directing the line men and attempting to remedy the fault in the Petrel line play and some improvement has been noticed.

Clyde Wallace is liable to be used at full against the Colonels following Bob Kilgore's receiving of several hard knocks on one of his legs. Wallace has not seen service since the Tech fracas and may go big in the Kentucky battle. Maurer and David will handle the halves and either of these boys is liable to account for a score unless the Centre defense is unusually strong. Although will handle the quarterback berth with "Frog" Gordy being given a chance at some stage of the afternoon's entertainment.

A large squad will make the trip to Danville and practically every player will see a little service in the game with the Colonels. The coaching staff will carry along a large number of reserves on account of the need for fresh men in the fray.

In meeting the Colonels, the Petrels will be facing their third foe of the present season. Already the Stormy Birds have met the Tech Jackets and the University of Georgia. Though the Petrels have yet to account for their first win of the season, their exhibition combinations were considered good by followers of the pigskin. In these two games the Petrels managed to account for touchdowns, two coming in the Tech game and one in the Bulldog tilt.

HAS GOOD CHANCE TO WIN HUGE WAGER

Paris, October 18.—Through the victory of A. K. Macomber's Rose Prince in the Cesarwitch stakes at Newmarket yesterday, Pierre Wertheimer, the French horseman, owner of Epinard, the noted French three-year-old, stands to win $210,000 without risking a single cent of his own money should his horse finish first in the Cambridgehire stakes, October 21, at Newmarket.

London bookmakers laid Wertheimer 20 to 1 against Rose Prince in the Cesarwitch, the winnings, if any, to go on Epinard at six to one for the Cambridgehire. Thus Wertheimer, after withdrawing his original stake of 1,000 pounds sterling, has 30,000 pounds sterling working for him against 180,000 pounds sterling, virtually obtaining 150 to 1 against Wertheimer's bet.

Wertheimer's trainer, Eugene Leigh, and his stable followers are not aboard the Epinard wagon with several good sized bets.

PHILADELPHIA TO ENTERTAIN ITS CHAMPIONS

Philadelphia, October 18.—Nine Philadelphia men who have won one or more national championships in the field of sports this year will be guests at a dinner to be given here October 25 by the Penn Athletic club.

They are Maxwell R. Marston, national amateur golf champion; William L. Tilden, II, national singles, doubles and clay court champion; W. E. Garrett, world's champion sculling champion; John B. Kelly and Paul V. Costello, national doubles scullers; Stanley W. Pearson, national squash racquet champion; Dr. P. B. Hawk, national veterans' singles tennis champion; Joseph V. Wear, who with William Potter Wear, holds the national father and son tennis title, and William H. Palmer, Jr., national archery champion. All are members of the club.

The Dope on Papyrus and Zev

New York, October 18.—So far as physical measurements go, Zev, the American horse, and Papyrus, his English opponent, are about evenly constructed.

It is probable that Zev is somewhat lighter than last August, the latest figure available, when he weighed 1,070 pounds, thirty more than Papyrus and generally heavier than three-year-olds in training. Through the heart Papyrus is the stouter.

Their respective measurements are:

PAPYRUS. ZEV.

Height . . . . . 15 hands 3 inches. 15 hands 3 inches.

Girth . . . . . 73 inches. 70 inches.

Between eyes . . . . . 7 3/4 inches. 7 3/4 inches.

Point of hip to hock . . . . . 41 inches. 35 inches.

Cannon bone . . . . . 8 1/4 inches. 8 3/4 inches.

Withers to ears . . . . . 33 inches. 32 inches.

Croup to tail . . . . . 20 inches. 21 inches.

Forearm . . . . . 18 inches. 19 inches.

Withers to point of shoulder . . . . . 29 inches. 30 inches.

Withers to croup . . . . . 30 inches. 30 inches.

Red Herring Arrives Here For Bout With K. O. Jeakle

Enters Dog in Show Here This Week and Will Continue Training for Bout on Tuesday.

Red Herring is in town. The little Scotchman has arrived for his battle with K. O. Jeakle at the Auditorium on Tuesday night.

The fiery-headed battler has been working out in Gulfport, Miss., in preparation for the battle with the Toledo terror and is in even better shape than when he met Champion Benny Leonard for the world's lightweight title at Memphis a few years ago.

Red is one of the most pleasing fighters that has ever appeared in a local ring and patrons of the world of fistiana have been clamoring with promoters to book the little Scotchman for another battle.

Now that their wish has been realized, it is expected that one of the largest crowds that has ever attended a bout at the Auditorium will be on hand when the two fighters meet on the night of Tuesday.

Red is in Atlanta early because of the dog show that opened yesterday. Red is one of the best known fighters in the south and has brought with him his registered dog to enter in the event.

But in the meantime Red is pointing to his big battle with Jeakle. Every fight fan in Atlanta remembers Jeakle, the only fighter who has ever keyed Battling Budd, one of the premier battlers of the south. The fans who witnessed this battle will remember how both fighters came out at the sound of the gong in fine condition and how the famous right of the Toledo battler which floored the Atlanta favorite were uncorked. But in meeting Herring, Jeakle will have a far tougher man than Budd and one who possesses a knockout punch. Jeakle has not been in the ring for some time and his preliminary bouts have not been arranged. But promoters assure the fans that an all-around card will be arranged.

MERCER TEAM IS READY FOR BATTLE SATURDAY

Macon, Ga., October 18.—With one of the best eleven representing the institution in many years, students at Mercer university are expecting a victory over the University of Chattanooga Saturday. The Mercer Baptists have lost only one game this season and that by a narrow score. The University of Georgia defeated Mercer in the opening contest of the season, 7 to 0. Since then Mercer has won from Furman and Fort Benning.

Coach Robinson's new system of coaching and an increase in the amount of material have resulted in a stronger team being developed this year. Chattanooga defeated Mercer last fall.

GA. FRESHMEN PLAY FRIDAY

Athens, Ga., October 18.—After smashing over a victory against the Clemson Tiger freshmen last Saturday, the Georgia "Bats" winning by the score of 28 to 0, the "Bulldogs" seem to be off on a successful season. The freshman material at Georgia is the best in the past several years and with the team under the tutelage of a special coach great things are expected from the squad, according to officials.

The next game for the freshmen is in Opelika next Friday, when the Auburn "Bats" are tackled. This game has become a "junior classic" for the fair there and draws a very large crowd. Coach Bachman will take about a two-day rest before the battle and expects to return the winner.

October 27 is the big day on the calendar of the freshman team. This is the day when the first yearies will occupy the entire spotlight on Sanford field. The varsity has an off day on this date and the University of North Carolina, which also possesses a splendid freshman team, sends its young Tarheels to Athens for a battle.

One of the most unusual plays, or series of such plays, happened in the Clemson game. The Georgia freshmen had the ball on the opponents' 5-yard line and Morton, who was playing line back, saw the play and called again and over he went on the identical play for another score, but the official saw someone holding in the line and back players to the 15 yards were stepped off, leaving 5 to go and on fourth down. Again Morton was entrusted with the oval and again he stepped the distance for a score. This time it was allowed to stand.

REACH FINALS IN HANDBALL

The Jewish Progressive club was the scene of two very interesting handball games on Wednesday evening. These games constituted the semi-finals of the doubles tournament. In the first game of the evening, Abe Silver and Ruderman defeated "Skeeter" Bokritzky and Sidney Herzenberg by the score of 21 to 18.

While in the second game, "Strategy" Litch and Max Rose defeated Sidney Edelson and Ike Ruderman by the score of 21 to 17.

Silver and Robinson got off with a rush in a short while were leading their opponents 15 to 12, when all of a sudden Bokritzky and Herzenberg became imbued with the "do-or-die" spirit and soon heard about it and it wasn't long before the victors were leading by only two points 20 to 18. Abe Silver concentrated all of his efforts on his next serve and thus ended a game replete with thrills.

As in the first game, Aaron Litch and Max Rose started in early and didn't have any trouble in piling up a big lead over their opponents, leading them at one part of the game 15 to 8. Then Aaron Litch and Robinson, who were not to be outdone, proceeded to pile up points, being only two points behind their opponents, 17 to 15. Then Aaron Litch, one of the victors, began using some of his famous handball strategy, and ran the score up 20 to 15. The losers then added two more, and it was all the scoring for them. On the next serve Max Rose placed a nifty serve, and after the ball was vollied about eight times, the game was finally won by Litch and Rose.

On Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock sharp, Abe Silver and Ike Robinson will play Aaron Litch and Max Rose in the finals, playing for the best two out of three games. Abe Silver, by the way, won the year championship singlehanded last year, but although the dope favors Silver and Robinson, it will not be surprising at all to see Litch and Rose crowned victors, for they seem to have plenty of fighting spirit. Anyway, it's going to be hot handball when these boys meet.

O'DOWD MEETS DUNDEE SOON

Birmingham, Ala., October 18.—(Special.)—Young Mike Dundee, New York bantamweight, who meets Tim O'Dowd in the Birmingham ring next Monday night has arrived in Birmingham, accompanied by his wife. And now that O'Dowd's foe for Monday night has reached town, Magic City fans who are hungry for a real scrap may get a line, just what Young Dundee is like. As a matter of fact the New York bantam came on early to make friends, and incidentally to round out his training.

Little Tim O'Dowd, who must get little enough to weigh 122 pounds the night of the fight, is expected to register at a local hotel almost any minute now. Tim has been soaking up some of the ozone of Louisville, Ky., for the past few days and will come direct from Louisville to Birmingham. Fans who have kept up with the ring work, assert that Tim has improved wonderfully since he last showed here and that the bugs who have always liked his work, will admire his boxing skill more than ever now.

Secretary J. M. Roberts of the club, announced that he was planning to put the advance ticket sale on Friday. He stated that he had already received many inquiries from the fans and that the club had become more solid than ever with boxing enthusiasts, due to the way in which it dealt with the clientele on the proposed Roper-Lohm fight.

Fletcher, Randall, Frier, Cleckley and Other Men Recover From Injuries

Georgia Bulldogs in Far Better Condition to Go Against Vols Than They Were In Encounter at Yale.

Athens, Ga., October 18.—(Special.)—Twenty-two Georgia football players left early tonight for Knoxville to meet the Tennessee Volunteers in their annual football game Saturday. Because of poor train connections the Georgia men will not reach their destination until midday Friday, yet they will still have time for an afternoon workout in final preparation for the contest.

The first gridiron bout between Georgia and Tennessee in some years was held last year on Sanford field in Athens. At that time the two teams battled almost on even terms for four periods, the victory finally resting with the Red and Black by the score of 7 to 3. The game was fast, and furious, but clean, and when the universities of the sister states resume hostilities Saturday another interesting battle should ensue. While the scene of the fray has been shifted to the hills in Knoxville, the Georgians will fight just as hard to conquer the enemy rivals a second time.

As to any predictions of the outcome, not one is likely to be safe. Both teams have met northern opponents and both have been turned back in the same decisive manner. Both have met smaller southern foes, yet comparative strength is unknown. Tennessee tied with Maryland and won by the margin of a single touchdown in their Georgetown games in Kentucky. Georgia triumphed over Mercer in like manner and won a decision over the Petrels of Oglethorpe by 20 to 6.

This marks the first real testing that Georgia will receive in its southern career this season. Tennessee is the first opponent that the schedule makers counted on as a real opposition, though they were undoubtedly fooled in Mercer and Oglethorpe. Whether the Volunteers are up to their usual standard of gridiron excellence is another mooted question that will be definitely settled Saturday.

In Better Condition.

The Bulldogs should line up against the Volunteers in far better shape to play football than they could have a week ago. All five of the injured stars who could not make the trip to Yale because they were horsed combat, are much improved, and if they are in the line of the Tennesseeans, as has done every opposing team he has faced. As a running mate he has Randall to make interference and contribute his share of the necessary yardage. Cleckley is also in condition to take the trip.

The Bulldogs coaches are carrying with them the following players: Day, Frier, Joselove, Grayson, Tipin, Anthony, Bennett, Taylor, Bass, Richardson, Oliver, Thomas, Butler, Moore, Philpot, Kilpatrick, Randall, Fletcher, Cleckley, Nelson, Heriot, Windham. This includes twelve freshmen and ten backs. No official line-up has been given out, but the team that will take the field will look something like this: Richardson left end; Taylor, left tackle; Joselove, left guard; Frier or Day,

DRIVE ON TO SHUT N. YORK SALOONS

New York, October 18.—United States Attorney Hayward today filed 54 injunction and common nuisance suits in federal court, under the Volstead act, to close alleged wet saloons, cafes, restaurants and cabarets in this city.

The names of the places were not available as the complaint in the various cases had not been filed. The evidence on which the suits were based was obtained by Assistant United States Attorney John Holley Clark.

Speaking of the federal government's latest effort to make New York dry, Mr. Hayward said:

"I have filed this morning 54 injunction suits asking for the closing of that many saloons now running wide open in the Borough of Manhattan.

"This is the first of a series of similar actions which will be commenced as rapidly as the clerks can get out the papers, the clerk of the district court can file them and the marshal can serve them.

"Since the repeal of the Mullan-Gage act, prohibition agents acting under supervision of my assistant, Major Clark, have been making a survey of all the places which are open for sale of liquor.

"In describing the scope of the latest dry offensive, Mr. Hayward said he had a locality card index of some 1,100 open saloons, adding:

"These saloons are of the old type. Drinks are sold quite openly ten cents for near beer, 20 to 25 cents for real beer and 25 to 50 cents for what passes for whiskey.

"In one saloon a little girl of 7 was observed taking out a can of beer. It was a small can and the price was 40 cents, but it is indicative of the whole situation.

"The old saloons are with us still and have taken a new lease on life since they defeated the efforts of the

Smack Broken Up By Furious Waves Off Avery Island

New York, October 18.—An unidentified fishing smack broke up in a heavy sea off Coney Island today, its crew of 15 men being rescued from small boats by a tug. A number of launches went to the assistance of the wrecked boat and were tossed to sea by the waves. Some of these rescue craft were believed to have foundered.

A search along the coast for the missing boats was started by coast guard and police craft. The sea was still turbulent, the high waves dashing under the board walk at Coney Island, flooding a number of the small lunch rooms on the beach front. There was hardly any wind and seamen were puzzled by the strange actions of the ocean.

The high waves began rolling as if developed by some disturbance on the ocean floor, and the little fishing smack, caught unawares, soon was wallowing. Soon after distress signals were hoisted on her, her crew were seen taking to the boats. Meanwhile the fury of the sea increased and the smaller craft that put out from shore to aid the fishermen, also was calling for help.

Long stretches of the sand beach made by the city during the construction of the new Coney Island boardwalk were washed away and the waves broke high over Steeple Chase pier.

State of New York to put them out of business, and this great state has surrendered to them.

"Some of the worst places started in business the week the state enforcement act was repealed.

"It is my intention by suits against all the open saloons, probably more than 2,000 in Manhattan and the Bronx alone, to bring the whole situation to the attention of the federal district judges. The issue will, of course, be in their hands. It is my opinion and I hope it will be theirs that the only remedy is the padlock."

MRS. WEBB'S DOCTOR BEFORE GRAND JURY

White Plains, N. Y., October 18.—Dr. William J. Meyer, who attended Mrs. Gertrude Gorham Webb before her death in the Westchester-Biltmore Country club, under what he declared to have been suspicious circumstances, was the first witness today before the grand jury investigating the case. Dr. Meyer has held to a theory that the society woman was poisoned, although other physicians have attributed death to natural causes.

Charles Webb, the husband, also appeared in the witness room today. He was accompanied by three attorneys. "I am prepared to answer any questions Mr. Rowland may desire to put to me," said Webb. "I will sign a waiver of immunity. I want to do everything I can to clear up this so-called mystery."

William T. Hunter, followed Dr. Meyer on the witness stand. When Dr. Meyer emerged from the grand jury room he said:

"I told them a few facts—all I wanted to tell them, and I read the nurses' statement and Webb's letters, which I turned over to the grand jury."

TEST ARMY BOMBER ON LONG FLIGHT

Washington, October 18.—Flight of the army's Martin bomber from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, to San Francisco, has been authorized by Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, so the machine's ability to cross the continent may be tested.

"Some of the worst places started in business the week the state enforcement act was repealed.

"It is my intention by suits against all the open saloons, probably more than 2,000 in Manhattan and the Bronx alone, to bring the whole situation to the attention of the federal district judges. The issue will, of course, be in their hands. It is my opinion and I hope it will be theirs that the only remedy is the padlock."

The plane will proceed from San Francisco to Los Angeles and return to its permanent station at Langley Field, Va., via San Antonio, Texas.

Bullet Crashes Through Window, Wounds Woman

Moultrie, Ga., October 18.—(Special.)—Sheriff Beard left tonight for Norman Park to investigate the mysterious shooting of Mrs. John Lovett, who was probably fatally wounded late today when a bullet from a .38-caliber pistol came crashing through the window of her home and struck her in the stomach.

She fell unconscious to the floor, but later revived and sent one of her three small children to a neighbor's, who summoned a surgeon. It was said following an operation that she had only a slight chance to recover.

The Lovetts live on the edge of town and the nearest neighbor lives about 100 yards distant. No one heard the shot, but that it was fired through the window was shown by the broken pane.

Mr. Lovett was at the farm. A fresh-air crank is one who turns fresh air into good health.

NEW YORK CENTRAL TO PAY $23,000,000

Washington, October 18.—A settlement between the federal government and the New York central railroad system of all accounts arising out of wartime federal railroad control was completed today by Director General Davis of the railroad administration. It provides that the treasury shall receive from the road $23,000,000.

This is the second largest railroad settlement made by the railroad administration thus far involving a payment to the government. The Pennsylvania railroad was found to be indebted to the government $30,000,000 in a previous closing up of accounts.

The debt of the New York Central arises chiefly out of the fact that during federal control a large amount of capital was invested by the government in permanent betterments to the New York Central system. It is expected that the treasury will accept securities of the road as well as cash in making the settlement.

Reduction Coming In Taxes of U. S., Mellon, Believes

Washington, October 18.—Secretary Mellon in a letter to Senator Harris, democrat, of Georgia, made public today, expressed the hope that congress may be able to reduce taxes at its next session. Replying to an inquiry from the senator as to whether any recommendations have been made for the tax on telegrams the secretary of the treasury said:

"The tax program of the treasury has not yet been finally determined. I hope, however, that if congress does not make any extraordinary expenditures a reduction in the burden of taxation can be made, and that the repeal of the war tax can be included in the program."

If we believe the testimonials, many a poor patient has died cured. Letters sent to foreign ports not containing sufficient postage will be returned to the sender.

News of Society and Woman's Work

Miss Beeson Weds Mr. Clarke At Quiet Home Ceremony

An interesting marriage of Thursday morning was that of Miss Ethel Beeson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Beeson, and Leonard J. Clarke, taking place at the home of the bride's parents on Ponce de Leon avenue at 11 o'clock.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Tyler, of the Oak and City Methodist church, in the presence of the immediate families and close friends.

The reception rooms were effectively decorated with a profusion of fall flowers in the various shades, the ceremony taking place before a background of palms and ferns with tall pedestal baskets filled with shaggy white chrysanthemums lending a touch of color.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Dr. J. W. Beeson. She wore an attractive three-piece tailcoat of dark brown with a cloche hat of brown velvet adorned with tan coque feathers. A lovely corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley completed her stunning costume.

Clark Howell, Jr., a college mate of the groom, acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke left immediately for a trip to New York and Canada. They will be at home with the bride's parents on Ponce de Leon avenue after November 15.

Mrs. Clarke is the only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Beeson. She recently moved to Atlanta with her parents from Meridian, Miss., where she was a popular member of the social set. She is a graduate of Meridian college where her father was president. She completed her education at the University of Colorado. She is the sister of Ralph Beeson and Dr. Dwight Beeson, of Atlanta, and Dr. Marvin Beeson, of San Diego, California.

The groom is formerly of San Francisco but has made his home in Atlanta for the past year. He attended the University of Georgia, where he was a popular member of the student body. He is now one of Atlanta's well-known young insurance men.

O. B. X. Sorority Is Entertained By Miss Eckford

Miss Florence Eckford was hostess to the members of the O. B. X. sorority of Washington seminary, Thursday afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. F. B. Eckford, on Peachtree drive.

The lower floor of the home was adorned throughout with quantities of fall flowers combined with brightly tinted autumn foliage.

The guests assembled at 3:30 o'clock and plans were discussed for the annual formal dance which the sorority will give on Friday evening, December 7, at the Druid Hills Golf club. The affair will assemble several hundred of the college set and will be a prominent event for the younger social contingent.

Miss Eckford received her guests wearing an afternoon toilette of brown Canton crepe trimmed in brown ribbons.

The active members of the sorority are: Misses Catherine Candler, president; Pauline Gray, vice president; Marion Couch, secretary; Virginia Torrance, treasurer; Myra Mornton, Gladys Neal, Lillian McFarlane, Florence Eckford, Mary Mosely, Elizabeth Palmer, Muriel Downer, Martha Maddox and Mary Renny.

Mrs. McKenzie Hostess To Bridge Club

Mrs. E. W. McKenzie entertained her bridge club Tuesday afternoon at her home on Highland avenue, in honor of Mrs. George Kline, of Palm Beach, Florida.

A lovely luncheon was served before the game. The top score prize was won by Mrs. O. D. Bartlett. Mrs. Kline was given an attractive bridge set.

The guests were: Mrs. George Kline, Mrs. J. A. Horne, Mrs. J. B. Alzer, Mrs. Eric Wynn, Mrs. Walter Stanton, Mrs. O. D. Bartlett and Mrs. S. A. Kirkland.

Mexican Supper To Be Served

A Mexican chicharron hot tamale supper will be served Saturday, October 27 by the College Park Parent-Teacher association at G. P. Wright's store. Mrs. Leonard Schoeller, chairman of the supper, a native of Texas, will serve several dishes of Mexican origin. Cake and candy will be on sale also.

Cafe entertainment will be offered, Spanish singers, readings and music. Everyone is cordially invited to come and enjoy the unique entertainment.

Church Guild Holds Interesting Meeting

The Guild of the Holy Comforter church held an enthusiastic and well attended meeting Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. A. L. Whitmore, at her home at 330 Lakewood drive.

Mrs. P. C. Morgan, the president of the Guild, called the meeting to order, and after an opening prayer and the reading of the minutes, a report was made by Mrs. C. S. Parr and Mrs. G. W. Gasque, who had charge of the lunch stand at the Southern fair last week. The committee turned in to the acting treasurer, Mrs. T. D. House, a check for $124.25.

The ladies voted to send a check for $50 to the Nation Wide fund to apply on the apportionment against the parish to be used for missions. It was further decided to sponsor a concert being arranged by the organist and the director of the choir, Miss Pepper and Mr. Mullins, to be given at the Pryor street school Friday evening, October 26. Mrs. Robert Dunham was appointed to make arrangements for the auditorium, Mrs. G. W. Gasque to see to the printing of tickets and programs, Mrs. J. B. Ford to look after the publicity. The best musical talent in Atlanta is being secured to render the program.

The ladies will conduct a rummage sale on October 27.

After a social hour the Guild adjourned to meet Wednesday afternoon, October 24, with Mrs. J. W. Oldknow, 426 Pulliam street.

Gorgeous Prize-Winning Blooms Displayed at Flower Show

Some of the beautiful prize-winning blooms exhibited at the flower show held by the Peachtree Garden club Tuesday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving club. Upper left, basket of variegated fall flowers from the gardens of Mrs. Edward Inman, on East Fifteenth street, which was awarded the second prize for being the most effectively arranged. Upper right, exquisite rose pink dahlias, exhibited by Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun, president of the Peachtree Garden club, which won the grand sweepstakes prize. In the lower picture are seen dahlias exhibited by Mrs. Henry Johnson and Mrs. Howard Candler, both winning first prizes in their respective classes.

Mrs. Jones To Speak To Newcomers Club

Mrs. M. Ashby Jones will speak to the Newcomers club at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the X. W. C. A. Peachtree Arcade, on "What It Means to Be a 'Newcomer' in Atlanta."

The members of the club were originally strangers in the city, who upon their arrival sought the X. W. C. A. room registry for aid in securing living accommodations. Mrs. Jones will commend the club that was organized by the registry department and the spirit of the members who are taking an active part in the civic affairs and social service interests of the community.

DAILY CALENDAR OF SOCIAL EVENTS

Park Street P.-T. A. Will Meet Sunday.

The P.-T. association of Park street Sunday school will meet Sunday evening, October 21, at 7:30 o'clock at the church.

Talks will be made by Miss Daisy McGee, Homer Thompson and Dr. C. M. Meeks and there will be an exhibit of work done the past year by the scholars.

Music will be furnished by the Sunday school orchestra and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Moreland P.-T. A. To Meet Today.

The Parent-Teacher association of Moreland school will meet Friday at 3 o'clock in the school auditorium.

A full attendance of all the members is urged. Miss Elizabeth L. Dunican will lecture on "The Correct Posture of School Children." An invitation is extended to all parents and teachers of other associations who are interested in this subject.

Part of the Journey—the part that counts in the long run—is the question of luggage. The kind of bags or grips you carry is important. Old, dilapidated bags and suit cases you cannot take along—they give you a "down-and-out" appearance. Our bags and suit cases stand the wear and tear of travel and are wonderful leather values.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuels Celebrate 30th Wedding Anniversary

An elegant social event of Wednesday evening was the family dinner party at which Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Samuels entertained at their home on West Fourteenth street, in celebration of their thirtieth wedding anniversary.

The house was beautifully decorated with vari-colored flowers and autumn foliage. In the music room a color scheme of yellow and white was effectively carried out with tall pedestal baskets of large chrysanthemums forming the decorations, while pink and lavender dahlias in silver vases together with potted plants were used as the artistic arrangement in the living room.

The elegantly appointed dinner table was covered with a handsome lace cloth and gracing the center was a large silver basket of pink roses and vari-colored dahlias. Corners were placed for 35 guests and marking the places were wedding bells and daintily dressed brides.

Mrs. Samuels received her guests wearing a handsome gown of black panne velvet beautifully draped and trimmed with a large rhinestone ornament. She was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Arthur Samuels, who wore a black satin gown trimmed in fur, and by Mrs. Sol Samuels, whose costume was a beautiful model of black satin with trimmings of plaid velvet ribbon.

During the evening the guests enjoyed a musical program followed by dancing.

Chapman-Howard Wedding Is Social Event in Savannah

Of cordial interest to hosts of friends in Atlanta was the wedding of Miss Sarah Margaret Chapman and George Pinkney Howard, Jr., which was an event of social prominence taking place Wednesday afternoon, October 17, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Leota M. Chapman, on East Gordon street, Savannah.

The Rev. J. A. Thomas, of the Wesley Memorial church, read the wedding service.

The handsome home was lavishly decorated with autumn and winter flowers in varying shades of yellow and presented a charming background for the bride and groom who were united in the ceremony. The ceremony was performed in the library where an altar of palms and flowers was formed between two large windows. Garlands of smilax festooned the walls and arches and hung in graceful strands from the ceiling lights.

The bride was becomingly attired in a modest gown of crepe de chine of a soft brown. Her headdress was a simple and charming affair of brown, a handsome feather and a flowing veil being the only adornment. The charming costume was completed by a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley.

An informal reception was held following the ceremony.

Mrs. Leota M. Chapman, mother of the bride, was groomed in black crepe chiffon and her flowers were orchids.

The beautiful appointed bride's table had as a centerpiece a silver basket of autumn and winter roses, the color motif of yellow featuring in the other details.

During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Howard left for a wedding trip to Florida after which they will reside in Atlanta with Mr. and Mrs. George P. Howard, parents of the groom.

Mrs. Howard, as Miss Chapman, was one of Savannah's most beautiful and popular young girls, and has a wide circle of friends, won by her gracious and charming personality, in Atlanta and other southern cities where she has visited. She received her education at the Savannah High school.

Mr. Howard is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Howard, of Atlanta, and the brother of Colquitt Howard, of Illinois. He was educated at the Georgia Institute of Technology, and was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is now prominently connected with the American Paint Products company.

He is the nephew of Mrs. W. L. Marshall, of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Miss Hattie Colquitt, Judge Walter Colquitt and Mrs. George Musc.

Mr. Howard is a member of families most prominently identified with the state. He is related to the Holts, Tarvers, Wimblys, Bunns and other families whose names are connected with every era of Georgia history.

Miss Poole Is Feted Bride-Elect.

Miss Hallie Poole, one of the most attractive of Atlanta's October brides-elect, continues to be the central figure at a number of lovely parties.

Mrs. Carpenter Jones will give a luncheon in her honor Friday.

On Tuesday, October 23, Mrs. J. Warren Leach will entertain at a bridge-luncheon at her home on Piedmont road. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Redding will be hosts at a buffet supper at their home on Juniper street in compliment to the bride-elect.

On Wednesday, October 24, Mrs. Robert Redding was hostess at a bridge-tee in Miss Poole's honor Thursday at her Juniper street home. An attractive color combination of pink and lavender was featured in the decorations and fees.

Miss Poole was presented with a piece of lingerie. The score prizes were given to the brides-elect.

Mrs. Redding was groomed in an afternoon costume of blue charmeuse. The honor guest was attired in panne velvet of wine color, with silk embroidery. Her hat matched her gown.

The guests included Misses Vivian McLean, of Douglas, and Ruth Yarbrough; Mrs. Kendrick Scott, Mrs. Louise Estes, Jr., Mrs. James West, Mrs. Robert Simmons, Mrs. Delores Dusenberry, Mrs. Cleves Symmes, Mrs. Van Buren, Mrs. Edwin Hill, Mrs. Roy McCraw, Mrs. Eugene Thornton, Mrs. Robert Goodart, Mrs. A. H. Redding, Mrs. R. A. Redding, Mrs. Joseph Heard, Mrs. Lynn Howard and Mrs. George Bellingier.

There have been some queries concerning the beauty section's place in the annual of a school that is not educational. The Blue Print seeks to obtain the services of Georgia Tech and girls are a major activity. As it is not possible to include all the set in the book, the editors are trying to make the selection as impartial as they can. It is for this reason that a beauty expert will be asked to judge the pictures.

It is desirable that White Studios take the pictures whenever possible in order that they may be uniform. For the past two years the White Studios have taken the pictures for the annual. Anyone wishing to enter a contest should get in touch with Delmar Robertson, the editor, at once in order that arrangements for sittings may be made.

Miss Owens Hostess At Piedmont Club.

Miss Theodora Owens was hostess Thursday at a luncheon at the Piedmont Driving club, the lovely affair complimenting Miss Anne Grant, an October bride-elect.

On the handsome lace cover of the table were placed small silver baskets of fall flowers surrounding a large basket of the same blossoms which stood in the center. The place cards were monogrammed in silver.

Covers were placed for Miss Grant and the members of her wedding party, who are: Mrs. Richard Wilmer, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Emmie Nixon, Miss Louise Inman, Miss Mary Sheldon, Miss Jennie Robinson, Miss Douglas Payne, Miss Katherine Murphy, Mrs. Hugh T. Inman and Miss Owens.

The league officers feel that this interesting opening program cannot be changed or abridged and have set the date for its performance one week later than originally planned. It will be given at Eggleston hall, October 20, at 3 o'clock.

Dr. Memminger will open the season with a reading of Tennyson's "Epoch Arden" with Mrs. Charles Chalmers at the piano to give the beautiful setting furnished by the Richard Strauss music.

Forrest Adair III Celebrates Third Birthday

Forrest Adair III celebrated his third birthday Thursday afternoon at an elaborate children's party given at his home, Mr. Forrest Adair, Jr., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Dodd on West Peachtree street.

The young guests played Mother Goose games during the afternoon, each child being presented with pink horns and tiny pink balloons tied with pink ribbons as souvenirs of the occasion. The lovely home was adorned with many fall flowers in the varying shades of pink.

The older guests were seated at a table in the dining room, a lovely feature of which was a large Jack Horner pie filled with tiny pink and white windmills, banjos, drums, dolls and other toys.

The small children were seated at a long table placed in the living room and holding in the center a large white birthday cake bearing three tiny pink candles and embossed with pink roses.

Mrs. Adair was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Gus Dodd, and her sisters, Miss Dorothy Dodd and Miss Nellie Dodd.

The young guests included little Misses Betty Rogers, Beverly Rogers, Helen Clarke, Marianna Adair, Barbara Mallet, Deas Hamilton, Constance Knowles, Marie Pappenheimer, Ann Pappenheimer, Madeline Adair, Florence Jones, Ruthanna Butters, Betty Martin, Emeline Kyle, Frances Seizing, Ethel Erwin, Helen Lowndes, Mary Louise Sciple, Katherine Newman, Mary Jane Campbell, Margaret Smith, Mary McGaughey, Raymer Simpson.

Puffed Rice

The finest breakfast dainty ever served

The queen of breakfast dainties is these rice grains steam exploded. The grains are puffed to airy morsels, 8 times normal size. And those thin, flaky grains are given a nut-like taste. The food cells are broken to make digestion easy. So this is ideal food.

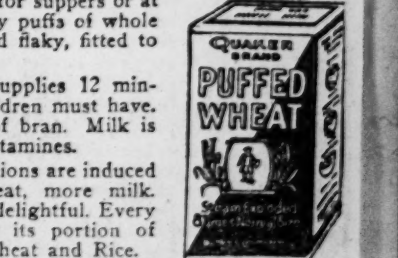

the supreme dish for supper or at bedtime. It is airy puffs of whole wheat, flavory and flaky, fitted to digest.

Whole wheat supplies 12 minerals growing children must have. Also their need of bran. Milk is rich in all three vitamins.

This is how millions are induced to eat more wheat, more milk. The dish is made delicious. Every day should bring its portion of Quaker Puffed Wheat and Rice.

CHAPTER XVII.

A Knight to the Rescue.

One gorgeous golden afternoon, Madelon went for a horseback ride alone.

Barbara, reclining lazily under her gay parasol, laughingly declared that she was not comfortable to move, begged off from accompanying her, and Madelon cantered down the road that skirted the sea, alone.

The beauty of the landscape, the brilliant flowers that overhung her path, the blue sea curling almost at her horse's feet, lured her farther than she had originally intended.

It was nearly sunset when she turned her horse and started back. Halfway home, her mount suddenly went lame.

Madelon was dismayed. To be so far from the hotel on a lonely, unfamiliar road, with darkness coming swiftly, was not a comforting thought. But to ride the poor brute when each step cost him such evident pain was out of the question. So she did the only thing possible: dismounted and seated herself by the roadside to await the possible passing of a motor car.

It seemed hours, and the darkness had completely hid the landscape and obscured the sea which she could hear murmuring against the cliff below, when she caught the welcome glimpse of a motor headlight far down the road. It was coming in the opposite direction from the least she wished to go, but she decided to hail it anyway and ask its occupants to phone the hotel at the first stopping place.

She stepped out into the roadway where the lights from the approaching car picked out from the dusk her slim, boyishly-ideal figure, and held up an arresting hand.

The car slowed and came to a stop beside her.

"Hello!" called a pleasant masculine voice. "In trouble?" Then, as she moved to the car's side: "It's Miss Lane, isn't it?"

Surprised at being addressed by name in an unfamiliar voice, Madelon strained her eyes through the gloom to distinguish the tall man who leaped out, jerking off his soft cap.

She recognized the dark stranger who had so caught her interest at the hotel.

He was at her side in an instant.

"May I be permitted to introduce myself? . . . I am Howard Chandler—at your service. Has something happened?"

She motioned to her horse who stood with hanging head by the roadside.

"My horse went badly lame awhile ago. I was wondering how I should ever get back, as this road doesn't seem much traveled. Could I trouble you to call the hotel please, when you

THE GUMPS—CAVEAT EMPTOR!

The Daughter
Of Helen Kent

By Sarah Comstock.

Next Week: "THE FIFTH ACE."
BY DOUGLAS GRANT.

To an imagination like Bec's the picture was vivid as light. Zelle paused to meet her dead silence. Bec could hear her own heart like a clock ticking in the night. "You can't mean that—O Zelle, don't torment me! Who is to be the—White Maiden?"

For answer, Zelle picked up a hand mirror and held it before Bec's blazing eyes. Bec covered her face, bowed it in a sudden overwhelming humility. "It's all too wonderful! But what if I should fail?"

"Kiss! You won't do a thing to that dance!"

"But Zelle, why not you? came the next amendment. 'It's so generous of you G. O. as well as I'."

But Zelle replied briefly, "A nice White Spirit I'd make, wouldn't I? No, lamb, the tiger-cat is my style. Now, then, I suppose you mean a few items. The long and the short of it, then, is that some of the bunch happened to—well, to ask me to recommend someone for the said White Spirit. I saw it would work out a number one for you, with you staying near enough to slip over the quiet rehearsal. We'll talk about the details later. All that's needed now is your official acceptance. Do I convey it, Mademoiselle?"

"Zelle! The idea of asking! And that you should contrive all this for me, to make my dreams come true. O my dear, how I hope that your own heart is—skidded! I've got to go and meet the committee, to give 'em your answer."

The reply was a trifle snorty. "Now turbulent with the great news, Bec learned this with a sense of relief, for now she would have time to cool the fever of her excitement. Anna was handing her a letter. 'Man bring,' explained the absence of a stamp. No letter such as this had Bec ever received. It was addressed to her in the laboring handwriting of an ignorant person. The envelope was of cheap paper, and smears about the flap. Bec turned it over and over, in feminine fashion, wondering who could have sent it. And at length she was driven to that ultimate resource of opening it. There, alone, Bequita read her letter. She read it slowly, from first line to last. She read it staring, unbelieving, puzzling, rejecting, doubting, shrinking, confounded, defying, scornful, willing, and in the end, turning always to one agony, which was a powerlessness to disbelieve. The letter would not be disbelieved, try as she might. There was that in it which rang true. The question now faced her: What was to be done? There was a long minute that she stood dead still, her fists drawn tight. "I'll go—go," she said, and summoned a cab.

The address proved to be that of a dreary old brick house in a dreary old street, shrunken by the overshadowing of a great hospital. And then, in swift sequence, Bec entered the dingy rooming house, had found the landlady, had been led to that person's dining room.

"I'll have him come to you here," said the landlady. She stared dully at Bec through faded eyes, and kept trying to button her olive-green wrapper while she talked, apparently not aware that the button was missing.

"Then he isn't ill?" Bec asked in surprise. "Your letter said that he would probably not live long."

"He thought so. So'd I. Heart," replied the landlady succinctly. "But got a lot better quick. Won't last, though. Liable to go any day. He's up now. Got clothes on. . . . I take 'em in here a lot, when they're discharged from hospital," she added in explanation.

"He has been in hospital, then?"

"Yes, alcoholic. With which brief report, she left Bec to await the meeting."

CHAPTER IX.

Then the inner door opened, and a man advanced toward her. He paused, studying her face; he shut the door behind him, so that the two were enclosed together; still keeping to the opposite side of the room, he scanned every line of her face as one devours a letter to get the gist of the message. So long did this fierce scrutiny continue that Bec, meeting it intently, dumbly, had opportunity to seize upon all that went outwardly to make up the man; the nerve-racked thinness of the whole body, the haggard youth of the face, a boyishness that seemed somehow to be beckoning through the wreckage. Above this queerly old young face the close cropping of hospital regulation was already being defied by a curly mop which was springing anew—and as white as old age. But the blue eyes, brilliant as water under sun, held to youth. After moments of this face-to-face scrutiny, he said brusquely: "Turn your profile."

Still dumb, Bec obeyed. At last he summed up his conclusions: "You haven't a trace of her about you, except in the chin and line of the jaw. There you show her determination to do what you set out to do. Otherwise, you're me all over—and may the Lord help you!"

Bec felt the blood rushing to her face at last. Even that was a relief, after the whiteness of dread of which she had been conscious. He seemed to be waiting now for her to speak; to speak out of the void of almost twenty years of silence and of complete strangerhood. Perhaps seeing her embarrassment, he drew forward a chair for her. "Rebequita," he said, as though trying to sound it. "Bec," she was going to call you. You're still called that?"

"Yes."

"It's been six years now since I saw you last. Then you were hardly through being little Bec."

"Six years!" she puzzled aloud. "But we've never met since I was a baby."

"Oh, yes, we have." He laughed deep in his throat. "We met six years ago on Sutter street in San Francisco. I was in no danger of being recognized, but I saw. You were a long braid—it wasn't done up yet—and a lot of buttercups and daisies and things on your hat."

"I remember the hat," murmured Bec.

He took a seat now near Bec's, but no nearer than a formal caller might draw to his hostess. In fact, there was no familiarity whatever in his manner; rather, a suggestion of maintaining a respectful distance, like one entitled to nothing more. But on the other hand, this manner did not shade by a hair's-breadth toward cringing; in fact, it was that of respect for another which is one with self-respect. Whatever else had gone to wreck in body, intellect, or soul, she felt intuitively that one quality stood upright; that quality was personal dignity.

"I suppose," he began at length, "you'd like a brief explanation, inasmuch as you've regarded me as dead for the last four years or so." His inflection was a query; the only answer Bec could make was to not answer.

"I can cover the story quickly. Of course, as you're always known, no doubt, I went from bad to worse. After I'd drifted into Idaho, and was running with about the lowest-down gang in the Rocky mountains, it happened that I acquired a pal so like me that our own wives could hardly have told us apart. Charlie and I used to palm ourselves off for each other. Something—never mind what—took place about four years ago that made it advisable for me to disappear as promptly as possible. And, very conveniently, and to show how obliging a good old pal could be, Charlie happened to get killed by a drunken Indian at the same time. So—well the details don't matter, but the long and the short of it is that another good friend arranged to have it understood that I was the one killed, and that Charlie had gone to Alaska."

"Have you been—long in the east?" hesitated Bec.

"Longer than you. I resurfaced myself and worked my way here at once, after I was killed. I've always kept track of you. Once in a while I've never quite lost you. I knew when you came to New York, and I've seen you here, though only at a distance, and in the end, you grow, the more you look like me."

In the gathering dark they gazed for moments each at the other's face strangely. Yes, it was true; for all the snowy hair, the marks of sickness, the lines of hard living, the likeness still was insistent. "I suppose you'd like to curse because it's so?" he flung out.

At first she did not reply. But at last words came. "No. I wasn't wishing I looked unlike you. Somehow, I think I'm not sorry at all. I was just feeling that—that if we had met before, we might have—met acquainted. Maybe there's something alike—something, I mean, more important than the color of our eyes or that tweak in our noses."

She could see that he flushed at this, and a longing sprang into his eyes, and he made an impulsive move toward her; but at once he crushed back the impulse, as if disciplined by a grim resolve. "The one kindness I've ever shown you was to keep from getting acquainted. For nineteen years I've kept from disturbing you, and this is the last time as well as the first I wouldn't have done it now if I hadn't known I'm done for, and I gave way to my great desire to speak with you once—and I was ashamed the minute I'd done it."

Amidst all the chaos of her thoughts, Bec found one. "I'm glad you did. I shall always be glad."

He nodded at her gratefully. "Thank you for that. I don't know why you should say it, but you seem to mean it. Perhaps you prefer to know the worst at once." He smiled to yield.

quizzically. "And since we are not to meet again—oh, don't fear, I haven't buried in on your life to spoil it—let's understand a few points clearly. First, don't say anything to her about this."

He had not once spoken Helen's name. And without knowing why, Bec fell into his promissorial mention. "But I shall have to tell her."

"Why?"

"Because—oh, because—she fumbled for a reason. As always it was, in fact, the long habit of submission to a dominant nature."

"Don't do it," he said with quiet finality. "It's better not, all round. I wouldn't add one pain to all I've caused her, by letting her know of my existence. And there's nothing in it for either of us. So don't tell her."

Though troubled, she felt obliged to yield.

His eyes and thoughts strayed. Suddenly they turned to her, alert.

"Why?"

"Because—oh, because—she fumbled for a reason. As always it was, in fact, the long habit of submission to a dominant nature."

"Don't do it," he said with quiet finality. "It's better not, all round. I wouldn't add one pain to all I've caused her, by letting her know of my existence. And there's nothing in it for either of us. So don't tell her."

Though troubled, she felt obliged to yield.

His eyes and thoughts strayed. Suddenly they turned to her, alert.

quizzically. "And since we are not to meet again—oh, don't fear, I haven't buried in on your life to spoil it—let's understand a few points clearly. First, don't say anything to her about this."

He had not once spoken Helen's name. And without knowing why, Bec fell into his promissorial mention. "But I shall have to tell her."

"Why?"

SOMEBODY'S STENOGRAPHER—Pimpo Gets a License

There is no use trying to learn the art of being a cultured gentleman if you continue to wear such clothes and shoes as that. You must make many changes, Mr. Mulligan!

Well, as long as I'm training to be a gentleman, I'm game for anything!

Now that is a fine dignified suit! When you get a different tie, hat and shoes, you will at least look like a gentleman!

Y'like it, huh?

Mr. Mulligan, I'm really proud of you! You look wonderful! Even better than I ever expected!

Gee, I'm tickled to death, Winnie!

All I needed was someone to give me a hand. Now I'll go home and give my family a treat!

Well? An' who did ye want to see, sir?

Why MA! It's me—Mike! Don't ya know yer own son?

To Keep the Cop From Kicking Out Their Fire

ANOTHER "GO GETTER."

WELL, SMOKING CIGARS NOW?

HASN'T IT BEEN HOT TODAY?

I'M VERY FOND OF CIGARS.

IT'S MUCH COOLER NOW, ISN'T IT?

THAT'S A MILD CIGAR, I IMAGINE.

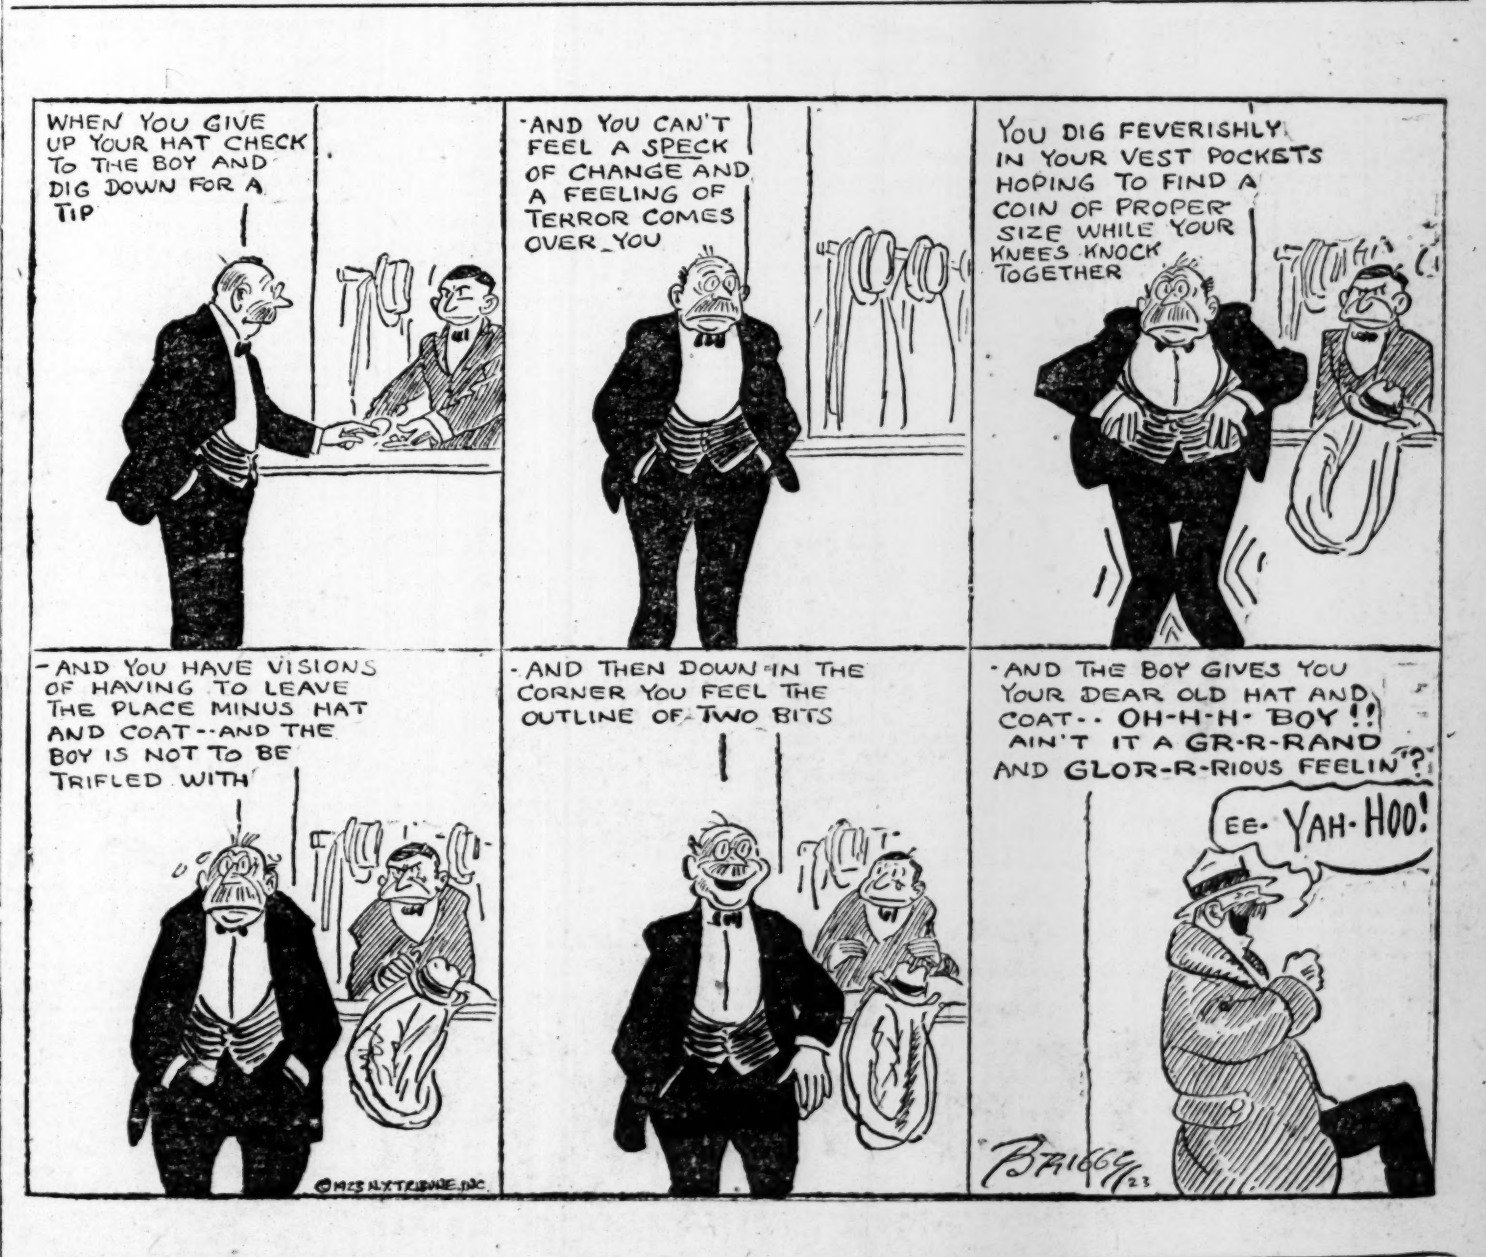

LOOKS LIKE RAIN, DOESN'T IT?

I ENJOY A CIGAR 'BOUT THE COLOR AND SIZE OF THAT.

HERE! HAVE ONE.

THANKS! YES, IT'S BEEN HOT TODAY, MUCH COOLER NOW, AND IT DOES LOOK LIKE RAIN.

Ain't It a Grand and Glorious Feeling

WHEN YOU GIVE UP YOUR HAT CHECK TO THE BOY AND DIG DOWN FOR A TIP

AND YOU CAN'T FEEL A SPECK OF CHANGE AND A FEELING OF TERROR COMES OVER YOU

YOU DIG FEVERISHLY IN YOUR VEST POCKETS HOPING TO FIND A COIN OF PROPER SIZE WHILE YOUR KNEES KNOCK TOGETHER

AND YOU HAVE VISIONS OF HAVING TO LEAVE THE PLACE MINUS HAT AND COAT—AND THE BOY IS NOT TO BE TRIFLED WITH

AND THEN DOWN IN THE CORNER YOU FEEL THE OUTLINE OF TWO BITS

AND THE BOY GIVES YOU YOUR DEAR OLD HAT AND COAT—OH-H-H-BOY!! AIN'T IT A GR-R-RAND AND GLOR-R-RIOUS FEELING?

EE-YAH-HOO!

JUST NUTS

WHAT WAS THE CAUSE OF YOUR HUSBAND'S DEATH?

I DON'T KNOW, HE DIED WITHOUT THE AID OF A PHYSICIAN.
